SENATE PASSES FOREIGN AID BILL

Truce Crisis Nears Climax

Rhee's Revised Terms Are Awaited Following U. S. Offer Of Concessions

SEOUL, Thursday, July 1 (AP)—The United States pushed for a quick showdown with President Syngman Rhee today after offering the South Korean leader last minute concessions to win his support of a truce with the Communists.

President Eisenhower's special envoy, Walter S. Robertson expected to receive some time today a written statement from Rhee revising South Korea's truce demands.

(President Eisenhower told a press conference in Washington he believed a satisfactory solution to the truce was in the making but did not set a specific time.)

Washington officials predicted a climax in the armistice crisis within the next 24 hours. By that time it was expected to become clear whether Rhee intends to abide by armistice terms acceptable to the United Nations or go it alone against the Chinese and North Korean Reds.

There were strong indications that if Rhee should continue his defiant opposition to a truce, it would not deter the U. S. from going ahead with an armistice.

A well-informed source expressed belief that the Reds would accept a truce even without Rhee's assurance the armistice terms would be observed.

In Tokyo Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East Commander and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff met four hours Wednesday in an unprecedented conference with all of the Allied top field commanders summoned from Korea.

There was no announcement following the secret meeting, but observers said it was certain they talked of plans in case Korea rejects an armistice.

A well-informed source said Robertson offered Rhee a final concession Sunday, promising the U. S. would walk out of a post-armistice political conference if the Communists violated the truce. There were also assurances that negotiations could start "at any time" on a U. S.-South Korea security pact, although it probably could not be finalized until after an armistice.

The source disclosed that Rhee told Robertson last Saturday that Eisenhower had met all South Korea's demands, but the next day Rhee popped up with new demands. Robertson sternly turned them down.

Rhee then offered to rewrite his stand "in his own hand."

Counterattacks By Reds Knock ROKs Off Ridges

SEOUL, Thursday, July 2 (AP)—A South Korean drive on the East-Central Front was jarred into reverse yesterday by up to 3,000 Chinese Reds who hurled the Koreans from two key heights in sudden counter-attacks.

Up to 2,000 Chinese drove the South Koreans from 1,600-foot Lookout Mountain, which commands the network of roads in the Kumsong River Valley that feed supplies to that sector.

ROKs Lose Virginia Hill

About 20 miles or so to the east across the Pukhan River Valley, another 1,000 Chinese pushed South Koreans from Virginia Hill just as the Koreans were consolidating new-won positions there.

Lookout stands on the west flank of the six-mile deep bulge which the Reds hammered into the Pukhan River front in more than two weeks of savage fighting. Virginia Hill stands on the east flank of the bulge.

Only west of Lookout Mountain on the Sniper Ridge sector of the Central Front could the South Koreans mark up any success after 24 hours of slashing, close-quarter fighting.

Air War Turns Cool

The South Koreans reported they won a knob on Finger Ridge, which is part of Sniper Ridge near Kumhwa. They also beat back a 300-man Chinese Red assault on Outpost Victor, near Sniper Ridge.

The air war, which blazed so high on the last day of June, turned cool Wednesday.

U. S. Sabres, who had knocked down a record-breaking 15 MIGs on Tuesday for a new high total of 74 for June, could find no MIGs on a sweep up to the Manchurian border. The MIGs stayed in their Manchurian nests.

However, a sharp-shooting Navy pilot knocked down two more small propeller driven Red planes Wednesday night as they tired to approach Seoul, bringing his score in three nights to four.

New Egyptian Holiday

CAIRO, Egypt, July 1 (AP)—The Egyptian Cabinet tonight declared the anniversary of the military coup that overthrew King Farouk last summer a national holiday and proclaimed June 18 as Republic Day.

TESTIFIES—Dr. George Mayberry, East Orange, N. J., freelance book reviewer for the New York Times, tells the House Un-American Activities Committee he "got a good strong smell of communism and couldn't stand it," as he told of being a member of a Red cell at Harvard in 1937 and 1938. He said Dr. Louis Harap, a previous witness before the committee, also was a member of the cell.

Defense Budget Slash Defended By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower intervened today to prevent a big boost by Congress in his 34 billion dollar defense budget. He warned that any quest for "total military protection" would not only be futile but would lead to "regimentation" of the United States.

The President sent a letter to Capitol Hill defending his cut of nearly five billion dollars in former President Truman's Air Force budget. His move was disclosed as Democrats in the House sought to add at least a billion dollars to Air Force funds.

Raising his figures would only "pile dollars upon unexpended dollars," the President said. Backers of the Eisenhower budget have said the Air Force already has some 25 billion dollars of unspent appropriations from previous years largely for planes not yet completed.

The President set forth his views in a letter which Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan) read as the House began sharp debate on a bill to appropriate $34,434,140,500 for the Defense Department for the year which started today.

Included in the total is $11,048,000,000 for the Air Force—$5,030,000,000 less than Truman had asked and 240 million dollars below Eisenhower's own request.

The Eisenhower administration's cutback has been the subject of bitter hearings and sharp, running debate ever since it was announced. Less controversial have been other cuts he ordered in Truman's figures for the Army and Navy.

Throwing his military prestige into the campaign to ward off House increases in his figures, the President said his defense budget proposal represents "my own views and bears my own personal endorsement in all major particulars."

He said he recognized "a powerful tendency for some of us . . . to seek after total or at least disproportionate military protection and to ignore the certainty that total military protection is unattainable."

Women Scared By 'Nature Boy'

LANSING, Mich., July 1 (AP)—A man wearing only a baseball cap terrorized women golfers at the Indian Hills golf course here today.

"He beat on his chest and made a sound like a neighing horse," one of the women golfers told Sheriff's Deputy Austin Deford.

The Sheriff's Department searched the golf course without catching up to the "nature boy" after two women golfers and a housewife living in the vicinity reported seeing the man romping in the vicinity of the fourth tee.

He was described as deeply tanned, more than six feet tall and weighing about 200 pounds.

"He was the strangest-looking creature I've ever seen," one of the women told Deford.

14-Year-Old Boy Captured Confesses Double Slaying

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., July 1 (AP)—A youth arrested for vagrancy when he was found sleeping in a courthouse restroom today admitted the knife slaying of a Sturgeon Bay, Wis., newspaper publisher and his wife.

Sheriff Robert Melzer of Shelby County said the youth first identified himself as Joe Mead of Michigan but admitted later he was James Duranty, 14, a next-door neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Harris, victims of the double killing.

The sheriff said that shortly after the youth was taken to the Shelby County Jail early today a car was found abandoned on a county road north of Shelbyville. In it were a glasses case stamped with Harris's name and a suit coat which matched the trousers Duranty was wearing.

Confronted with this evidence, Melzer said, the boy admitted he was Duranty and then admitted he had killed Harris and his wife. He gave no reason for the slayings.

Sheriff Melzer said the boy signed papers waiving extradition proceedings and was being held in the county jail for Wisconsin authorities. In Sturgeon Bay, Sheriff Hallie Rowe said he planned to go to Shelbyville tomorrow.

Young Duranty left a note in the bedroom of his home across the yard from the Harris' residence, telling his mother he had killed the couple and advising her he was going to Michigan.

First degree murder warrants charging Duranty with the slaying of Harris, 53, and his wife, Grace, 50, were issued last night.

An autopsy revealed that Mrs. Harris had been strangled with her own dress, which was pulled around her neck and twisted tightly. Her head had been nearly severed also. Harris, publisher of a semi-weekly newspaper here, died of 44 stab wounds made with an Army-type knife found in the blood spattered home.

Moscow Calls Officials Home To Explain Riot

Envoys To Western Powers Summoned To Rush Conference

BERLIN, July 1 (AP)—Virtually all the top military and civilian aides of the former Soviet Control Commission of East Germany and the ambassadors to the Western Powers have been summoned to the Kremlin for a rush conference on the heels of the East European revolts, it was disclosed today.

The chief aides of Gen. Vassily Chuikov, who turned over his duties on May 28 to new High Commissioner Vladimir Semyenov, disappeared from their offices on Monday in response to the summons from Moscow, Allied officials said.

Presumably they were gathered in the Kremlin tonight to explain what happened and why on June 17—the day two million unarmed East Germans suddenly rose and came so near overthrowing their Communist rulers in bloody riots.

Malik, Zarubin Leave

Yesterday Soviet Ambassadors Jacob Malik in London and Georgi Zarubin in Washington started sudden plane journeys to Moscow, and Alexei Palov, the ambassador in Paris, said he would be going in a day or two.

Western informants in this sensitive listening post behind the Iron Curtain said the Russians obviously were fearful that the East German uprising might revive or spread to other satellite countries.

The East German riots were preceded by clashes of workers with police at places in Czechoslovakia, and according to a West Berlin newspaper spread to former German territory in Western Poland on June 17.

New Policies Expected

There were conjectures here that far-reaching policies may emerge from Moscow shortly. The summons to the ambassadors may mean that discussions are going on which concern the prospective meeting in Washington on July 10 of the British, American and French foreign ministers. The Western meeting is expected to explore the Allied position not only in Korea, but also the implications of the East German and Eastern Europe uprisings.

Meanwhile, Moscow propaganda was busy smearing the East German revolt as a "provocation" by Western agents, while leading Communists here were upbraiding themselves for "mistakes" and acknowledging that Chuikov's Control Commission was responsible to an extent for laying unjustified burdens on the workers.

St. Louis Transit Workers Strike

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP)—A sudden unauthorized strike by AFL operators halted bus and streetcar service here today producing traffic snarls that taxed police.

No buses or streetcars ran, despite pleas for a return to work by the mayor, the state mediation director and union officers.

There was no prospect of an immediate end to the wildcat strike. The Public Service Company normally handles more than 500,000 passengers daily in St. Louis.

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker said the strike "seriously threatens health and safety."

The walkout came as the mayor was attempting to end another strike, by AFL truck drivers, that has halted construction projects valued at 75 million dollars for seven weeks.

Union officers said the strike was "definitely unauthorized."

Many workers were unable to get to their jobs. Thousands were late. As thousands of additional automobiles hit the streets, whistle-blowing policemen labored in the 90-plus heat to untangle traffic jams.

German Government Is Given Air Control

BONN, Germany, July 1 (AP)—The Western Allies today handed control of civil air traffic over West Germany to the German federal government.

The Germans will be responsible for directing civil aircraft in the air over their territory as well as controlling landings at civil airports, a High Commission announcement said.

Until now these jobs have been done by Allied officers with German staffs.

The Allied air corridors to Berlin will remain under military control.

President Sees Revolt Spreading In Red Bloc

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today revolt sparked by tyranny seems to be spreading like wildfire in Iron Curtain countries. But he said there is no thought of active U. S. intervention to liberate these nations.

Rebellion in the Soviet satellites, the President told a news conference, reinforces the idea that people who have known freedom rate it as the highest of human values and consider life itself worth spending to regain it.

Yet Eisenhower indicated there is little his administration feels it can do now to liberate the satellite countries aside from statements and speeches to show them they still have friends standing by.

In effect, the President was repeating the stand to which he came around in last year's political campaign, that this country should seek liberation of the satellites but only by peaceful means.

Korean Armistice Seen

As for the great issue on the other side of the world, the Korean armistice muddle, Eisenhower said he has a deep conviction a satisfactory solution is coming. He didn't say how soon.

The situation is confused, he said, and differences with Korean President Syngman Rhee are an acute example of difficulties among allies dedicated to the same principles and ideals. He said that is the history of coalitions and we shouldn't be too discouraged, although the differences are very real.

The President also told his news conference:

1. Somebody got frightened in throwing out of State Department libraries overseas books by mystery novelist Dashiel Hammett, who has declined to tell congressional investigators whether he has been a Communist. Eisenhower said he didn't see why anyone should get frightened—he wouldn't.

GOP Getting Organized

2. The Republican party is gradually showing it has taken over responsibility and getting organized to carry and discharge responsibility. Whether or not Republicans in Congress always agree with him, he said, isn't as important as getting a progressive, needed program before the people for their guidance and observance.

3. He isn't going to comment in detail about House cuts in defense appropriations below the figures he recommended. He said those things are still in the hands of Congress and it is a good time to keep still.

4. He would support a constitutional amendment, if it would quiet fears in the country, to make it clear that no treaty can circumvent or supersede the Constitution. But he said he would never agree to anything that interferes with the constitutional and traditional separation of powers between departments of government.

Heat Wave Seen Lasting Through Fourth Of July

By the Associated Press

Hot and steamy weather extended from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard Wednesday with no widespread relief in sight.

The mercury pushed above the 100-degree mark again in the Southwest but cloudiness and scattered showers kept temperatures below this level throughout most of the Midwest.

A thundershower in Chicago dropped the midday temperature from 92 degrees to 80 degrees in a half hour. The Weather Bureau forecast a return to 90 plus-degree heat on Thursday.

The Weather Bureau spokesman in New York said hot and humid weather is in prospect for the East through the Fourth of July.

Ike Names Esgate As Governor Of FCA

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today designated Arthur T. Esgate as governor of the Farm Credit Administration for thirty days.

A vacancy in the job began today when the resignation of Ivy W. Duggan became effective.

Esgate has been serving as commissioner for the production credit division of the Farm Credit Administration. He came to Washington in 1933 from Phoenix, Ariz., to join the staff of the credit agency.

Ike Feeling More At Ease In "World's Hardest Job"

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower has been President for more than five months, and that he's feeling more at ease in the world's hardest job can be guessed from this:

He's much more relaxed at his news conferences.

Anyone who attended the first presidential news conference Eisenhower held, on Feb. 17, and then dropped around for the one he held today would have to be struck by the difference.

Then Eisenhower seemed to be unusually tense. He fumbled with his glasses, and made awkward gestures.

Reporters, a suspicious lot, suspected he didn't want to answer any questions at all.

Eisenhower did nothing to ease their fears at that first conference. He began by saying he had an appointment he must keep in 30 minutes. Which is something like inviting in guests, and then meeting them at the door with a warning that they mustn't stay too late.

Whereupon Eisenhower started a lecture—until all but 12 minutes of the time had been used up.

Reporters normally end the conference with a traditional, "Thank you, Mr. President." Several were on their feet, trying to get recognition for questions, when Eisenhower abruptly said good-bye, and hurried out.

Contrast that with what happened today.

He arrived promptly, at 10:30 a.m., daylight time. He said he had little to volunteer. Then he gave his weekend plans, and launched into a little speech in praise of those people in the satellite countries who value freedom more than they do their lives.

That took only three minutes, and Eisenhower was ready for questions.

It's hot and muggy in Washington, and that absurdly decorated room where the news conferences are held was like an oven. Even the scantily dressed cupids, who hold up the lights in the corners, looked hot.

An easy time to be short tempered. Yet Eisenhower handled most of the questions easily, as if he might even be enjoying himself.

$9,389,000,000 Deficit Reported By Government

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Treasury announced today the government spent $9,389,000,000 more than its income in the fiscal year which ended yesterday, although it collected more taxes than ever before in the nation's history.

This was the biggest deficit since the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1946—during which World War II came to an end.

At the same time, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey announced the Treasury next week will borrow the biggest lump of money since the war—5½ to six billion dollars in tax anticipation certificates.

Humphrey said he would announce later this week the interest rate the new issue will bear, plus other details not made public today. In advance of his announcement today, investment quarters in New York City speculated that the Treasury was about to issue a five to six billion dollar certificate paying 2⅝ per cent interest.

A Treasury spokesman who met with newsmen in connection with today's announcements said the interest rate on the new issue has not yet been decided. It was expected that the rate and other details would be announced late Friday afternoon, after security markets are closed for the week end.

The Treasury said government spending in the year ended yesterday totaled $74,607,000,000 in round figures, while income was $65,218,000,000.

Despite the resulting deficit—much larger than had been officially predicted in recent days—tax receipts in fiscal 1953 were the highest in the nation's history, topping the previous record in fiscal 1952 by approximately three billion dollars.

Spending in fiscal 1953 was topped in three World War II years, the highest being $98,703,000,000 in the year ending June 30, 1945.

Three Efforts To Cut Amount Are Defeated

$5.3 Billion Measure Approved; Spending Deadlines Are Set

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Senate tonight passed the Eisenhower administration's $5,318,000,000 foreign aid bill after defeating three last-minute efforts to cut it sharply.

In passing the big bill for the fiscal year starting today, the Senate fixed a 1957 deadline for winding up of all military spending in the foreign aid program and 1956 for economic assistance.

The $5,318,000,000 measure is an "authorization" bill, which authorizes spending up to that figure. The exact amount is to be determined in an appropriation bill to be passed later. Some senators have served notice they will try to cut the appropriation bill below the $5,318,000,000 figure.

Passed By Voice Vote

The Senate passed the authorization bill by a voice vote. It now goes to conference with the House which passed a measure authorizing $4,998,000,000.

The administration suffered one setback during the Senate fight when the chamber voted, over administration objections, to earmark part of the money for purchase of American farm surpluses.

Advocates of this cried that Congress should "do a little bit for Americans" as well as for foreign nations, but opponents argued that a foreign aid bill was no place for a crop disposal program.

The bill approved by the Senate was only 156 million dollars under the $5,474,000,000 requested by the Eisenhower administration as a rock bottom figure.

However, the administration itself had knocked more than two billion off the $7,600,000,000 originally proposed by former President Truman for fiscal 1954 which begins today.

Amendments Defeated

The three defeated amendments to cut the measure were offered by Senators Long (D-La) and Welker (R-Idaho). They would have knocked off one and one-half billion dollars, one billion, and 320 million. This last would have made the Senate bill total the same as the House.

The first two amendments lost 48 to 34, the last by 42 to 38.

Several senators said they expected the appropriations committee to slash the allotments when it acts on the actual money for the program. Many said they would back such cuts.

While the administration won a victory in that no cuts were voted on the floor, it lost out in its proposal that authority for foreign aid spending be extended to 1961.

The present law provides that the mutual security agency's power to contract for new spending expires July 1, 1954, and the spending itself in mid-1955.

Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen asked for these to be extended to 1958 and 1961 respectively.

Social Security Revision Urged

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Ten Democratic senators and an independent today proposed a sweeping revision of present laws to bring 13 million more persons under social security and increase aid benefits.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) prepared for introduction a bill obviously aimed at spotlighting the Republican administration's delay in recommending changes discussed by President Eisenhower in last year's political campaign. GOP Senators Murray of Montana, Jackson and Magnuson of Washington, Humphrey of Minnesota, Kennedy of Massachusetts, Douglas of Illinois, Green and Pastore of Rhode Island, Neely of West Vriginia and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) were listed as co-sponsors.

Lehman said the bill would bring 13 million additional persons into the social security system by taking in farmers, lawyers, veterinarians, accountants, architects, funeral directors and engineers among self-employed groups. Public employes and civilian workers for the armed services also would be included.

Maximum old age assistance for an individual would be raised from $85 to $135 a month by an increase in present payments and a boost from the present $3,600 to $6,000 a year the maximum of annual earnings used to compute benefits.

Heir Presumptive To Tunisian Throne Slain

TUNIS, July 1 (AP)—An assassin's bullet today snuffed out the life of Prince Azzedine Bey, heir presumptive to the crown of Tunisia and one of France's few friends in high places in this troubled North African protectorate.

The slayer crept into the palace of the 72-year-old cousin of the Bey of Tunis, Sidi Mohammed Al-Amin, and fired twice. One of the bullets penetrated the prince's stomach and lodged in the intestine. The other went wild.

The prince's son, Abdel Hamid, helped capture the attacker, a 33-year-old former convict named Hedi Ben Brahim Ben Ejebala Djeridi who said he had been paid 200,000 francs ($571) to murder the prince.

Police said the slayer gave a list of names of his employers in the assassination but police described the list as fantastic and unlikely.

Azzedine Bey's death raises his brother, Sadok Bey, to the position of first in succession to the Hueseinite throne.

The assassination occurred the day after the Neo-Destour (Independence) party had published an important declaration that it was ready for a resumption of French-Tunisian talks on home rule which have been at a standstill for a year. The French, too, had declared readiness to talk.

Eisenhower Given Anniversary Party

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower returned from playing golf today to find a surprise party arranged in honor of the 37th anniversary of his marriage to Mamie Geneva Doud.

Mrs. Eisenhower and members of the White House staff and their wives gave a buffet supper.

A secretary said the President was aware that was his wedding anniversary but he knew nothing of the party.

To keep Eisenhower from barging in on it ahead of time he was tricked into going back to his office upon returning from golf. He usually goes directly to the living quarters—separate from the offices—after his trip to the Burning Tree Club in Maryland.

The Eisenhowers were wed in 1916 in Denver, Colo.

Knowland Offers Korean Solution

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said tonight the way to solve the Korean armistice tangle is to unite Korea and have the Big Powers and United Nations guarantee her neutrality.

Under this "new approach," the acting Republican leader of the Senate said, each side would have reasonable assurance Korea would not be used as a jumping off place for aggression against it.

Knowland proposed his solution in a panel program recorded for broadcast by the ABC network at 8:30 p. m. EST.

Violence Flares In Transit Strike

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 1 (AP)—A tear gas bomb was hurled through the open window of a downtown bus into the lap of a woman passenger today as Augusta's month-old bus strike erupted into renewed violence.

The passenger, Sarah Lee Bryant, 26-year-old Negro, was taken to a hospital where attendants said she suffered burns and an injured hip. Five other passengers, all Negroes, were treated at a hospital for shock and sickness caused by tear gas.

Bus driver Ernest Myrick told police the bomb tosser was standing at a street intersection when he hurled the missile through the open window. The assailant fled afoot.

One Cause Of Wrecks

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Two automobiles cracked up within minutes on a Washington street today and a policeman who witnessed the accidents said in each instance the male driver looked skyward.

He looked in that direction himself and found the trouble—an unclad mannequin (plastic) in a second floor window of a women's clothing shop.

Aromatic, 3-D Ad Run By Newspaper

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The Washington Times-Herald ran an aromatic three-dimensional advertisement today.

The ad, by a pickle company, showed jars of pickles. By looking at it with the aid of a mirror, a 3-D effect could be obtained.

Mixed with the ink used in printing the picture was a concentrate of the aroma of pickles.

Minister's Wife Beats Children With Iron

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 1 (AP)—A 27-year-old minister's wife today admitted the near-fatal beating of her two small children with an electric iron Monday.

Sheriff's Capt. A. B. Mason, who signed the complaint, said Mrs. Berry Louise Griffith told him she decided to get rid of her two daughters because they prevented her from doing what she wanted. She is charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

The children, Kathy Louise, 3, and Genevieve, 2, both with fractured skulls, remained in critical condition. They were beaten in their Palm City home Monday.

He Should Have Stuck To Ambition

DETROIT, July 1 (AP)—Norman St. Martin looked sharp, felt sharp, and was sharp—but he should have stuck to his ambition to be a circus entertainer.

He was sentenced today to three to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison for holding up a hotel clerk May 18.

St. Martin, 25, blamed his trouble on the admiration of friends who liked to watch him eat 67 razor blades at a sitting.

"They turned my head so I felt I could do no wrong," St. Martin told Recorder's Judge Paul E. Krause.

Wheat Market Quotas Invoked

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today invoked marketing quotas on the 1954 wheat crop, but he delayed announcing how much of a reduction in production will be sought to hold the surplus down.

The quotas, under which farmers would be told how much they could market, must be approved by at least two-thirds of the affected growers voting in a referendum to be held later. The last time such controls were approved was for the 1942 crop. They were suspended, however, before marketing time.

Benson said the prospective wheat supply is the largest of record and 48 per cent above normal. Law requires him to invoke quotas when the supply threatens to exceed normal by more than 20 per cent.

The government already has about one billion dollars invested in surplus wheat. Declining export markets have contributed to the oversupply.

It now appears probable that similar controls may be needed next year for major types of tobacco, cotton, peanuts and sugar cane to hold production in line with market needs.

Benson told a news conference that there was a "not very great" chance that a Southwestern drought could spread to presently unaffected wheat areas and reduce the size of this year's crop to a point where quotas could be withdrawn.

Should this happen, the department probably would depend on the less restrictive acreage planting allotments in an effort to prevent overproduction next year. Overplanting of allotments would result only in loss of price support aid, but sales of wheat in excess of a quota would be subject to a heavy penalty tax as well as loss of price support. Allotments do not require grower approval.

Mistakes Made In Book Purge, President Says

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower re-entered the "book burning" controversy today, expressing the view that mistakes have been made in the government's book purge because someone got frightened.

Both the President and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) announced they have taken steps to find out to what lengths the State Department has gone in its efforts to clean out alleged pro-Communist literature in U. S. information libraries abroad.

Eisenhower indicated at his news conference that he would not have banished the detective stories of Dashiell Hammett, who has refused to tell congressional investigators whether he has been a Communist saying somebody got frightened, he added that he himself would not have been frightened.

Meanwhile, McCarthy, who started the purge with a charge that more than 30,000 "Communist books" were on the library shelves, demanded to know why Whittaker Chambers' book "Witness" and other "effective writings exposing communism" have been removed from some library shelves.

A well-known artist and author, Rockwell Kent, was brought before McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee today, and he refused to say whether he is a Communist or was one when he wrote books which were purchased for the overseas libraries.

Kent flourished a statement in which he charged there is a conspiracy to overthrow the American democracy "in favor of a Fascist, totalitarian government."

"I have no hesitation in charging that this committee plays an important part in that conspiracy and that its chairman, Sen. McCarthy, is its leader," Kent's statement said.

"Moreover, and in view of the forces at the disposal of this committee, I charge the conspiracy to be done to overthrow our form of government, if need be, by force and violence."

MEET ROBERT THE ROBIN—Freckle-faced Richard Dacey, Jr., can't see what's going on but he suspects his pet robin, Robert, has started trying to build a nest again. The 9-year-old boy cared for the robin when it fell out of its nest a month ago. Now almost full grown, it won't chase worms with the rest of the robins but prefers to live with the Dacey family in Watertown, Mass., and eat hamburger.

Flanders Raps Korea 'Muddle'

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) criticized "our muddle" in Korea today, telling the Senate "we have retrograded politically and morally in our relations with the brave Korean people, government and president."

Truce proposals by Gen. Mark Clark, Flanders said, "put us in the position of threatening the Korean government with an attack from the rear while the ROK's are attacking the Communists at the front."

Flanders, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said "The suspicion is that this sickening threat came from the Pentagon."

"It certainly could not come from the White House," he continued.

"Somewhere along the line the same influences which guided the Truman-Acheson administration got hold of our new administration.

Flanders said recent policies failed to establish the "well-being of people as our policy in Korea."

As a result, he said, the United States now is "offering to defend that unhappy country, or, rather one-half of it, against all comers.

"Under that proposal we would have to stand armed and ready for years to come, to start the Korean War all over again if history repeats itself. This will be a tremendous and continuing drain on our vitality."

Dead Soldier's Report Probed

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 1 (AP)—Rep. Carl C. King (R-Pa) yesterday told the parents of a soldier recently killed in Korea the Army is pushing a prompt and complete investigation of circumstances which led to their charge that the youth had to face the enemy without ammunition.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Lease of Summit Lawn told King they feared that was the case because of a letter they received from Kenneth Jr., written two days before the date Lease was reported killed in action, June 19.

The Leases quoted the following from their son's letter:

". . . Well, the truce talks are still going on. It looks good but not good enough. They must expect it to be over soon because they took all our ammo yesterday."

King's telegram to the youth's parents read:

". . . The Department of the Army promises prompt and complete investigation. The Army already has radioed the Korean Command for information. . . ."

Curb On Fireworks

This Fourth of July may be the last "unsafe and insane" one for many communities. A bill prohibiting the transportation of fireworks into any state in which the sale of fireworks is prohibited, sponsored by Representative Marguerite S. Church (R., Ill.), has been favorably reported by the House Judiciary Committee.

The bill would not affect state legislation as to what fireworks, if any, may be bought or sold or used. It aims, in the words of the committee report, "only to supplement and assist in the enforcement of the laws of those states which prohibit or regulate the sale or use of fireworks." It would eliminate interstate shipment of what the committee calls "bootleg fireworks."

Only two states, Nevada and Tennessee, have no legislation curbing the sale or use of fireworks. Comprehensive measures regulating or prohibiting sale or use have been enacted in 36 states, including Maryland, 10 other states have statutes regulating, in some degree, use or sale or delegating that authority to county and municipal officials.

In general, state statutes define "fireworks" or "special fireworks" or "dangerous fireworks" or "fireworks other than safe and sane" and prohibit sale, use, and possession. Exceptions are usually made for public displays under proper licenses.

But, Mrs. Church testified at hearings on the bill, "In all truth all one need do to obtain such fireworks is to clip one of the coupons now freely inserted in comic books and magazines and send it to an out-of-state distributor. Illegal fireworks are returned via express shipment and state law is flaunted. Similar illegal traffic is effected through mail order catalogs which circulate freely through the mails in every state."

One such catalog warns prospective customers, "Buy plenty! Next year there may not be any!"

The American Medical Association, which supports the Church bill, has compiled data on injuries and deaths as a result of fireworks. Its latest available figures are for the period from 1937 to 1946, exclusive of the war years—1942-45—when no records were kept. In the six years covered, 76 deaths and 28,102 injuries were attributed to fireworks. In Illinois, where the use of dangerous fireworks is strictly prohibited, the state Society for the Prevention of Blindness reports 486 fireworks accidents in the past two years, 112 of which involved serious eye injuries.

The pre-Fourth of July period this year has followed the usual pattern. In recent weeks two girls have been killed in a drug store fireworks explosion in Kansas City, and four persons have been killed and more than a hundred injured in fireworks plant explosions in Texas.

The Church bill, as amended in committee, provides a fine of up to $1,000 or imprisonment for up to one year or both for illegal shippers and purchasers of fireworks. Among the groups supporting the bill are the American Optometric Association, National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, American Association of Workers for the Blind, American Foundation for the Blind, National Fire Protection Association, Illinois Medical Society, General Federation of Women's Clubs, American Municipal Association, Chicago Junior Association of Commerce and Industry.

Shaping The Budget

Congressional action on appropriations so far closely follows, even betters economy-wise, the Eisenhower revision of the Truman budget for the fiscal year which began July 1. In the effort to achieve a balanced budget or near to it, the revision trimmed the Truman total of $73,200,000,000 for new spending by $9,100,000,000. But another billion of saving is in a fair way of being realized.

Basis for this favorable prospect is furnished by eight appropriations bills already approved by the House. They total $13,800,000,000, which is $1,100,000,000 under the administration figures for the same items and $3,000,000,000 under Truman's. The Senate has passed four appropriations bills with a variance of only $39,400,000 from the companion House bills, indicating that the Senate is also economy minded.

It has been charged that some reductions will be restored by supplemental appropriations later. Even so a good leeway has been established. The final results are mainly obscured by what Congress will do about defense and foreign aid. The President's total for these two categories was $7,300,000,000 less than Truman's. But while Congress may cut the revised defense amount, it is almost certain to cut substantially the revised foreign aid total, foreshadowed by the authorization bill passed by the House. Appropriation will come later.

But unexpended funds from previous appropriations are the complicating factor in budget balancing. Probable expenditures from these funds in the next 12 months were included in Truman's estimated deficit July 1, 1954, amounting to a sum just under total savings that now appear possible. The Truman deficit figure, however, was based on anticipated revenue of $68,665,000,000, which may be too high a figure, as has been claimed.

Credit Expanded

When Treasury domination of the money market was ended two years ago by agreement, the Federal Reserve Board was freed to regulate credit "with the view," according to the statutory directive, "of accommodating commerce and business and with regard to the general credit situation of the country."

On resumption of its normal function the first action by the board was to suspend "pegging" government bonds at par or better, by which process the Treasury had virtually determined the rate of interest to be paid. The result had been to make credit in general cheap, thus contributing to inflationary forces then at work.

Since then has come a change toward greater stability, but as production and consumption have continued to expand, legitimate loan demands have risen in such volume, despite rising interest rates, as to bring about a "tight" money market. That is, many banks have come close to the limit of what they could lend without exceeding the net reserve requirements set by the Reserve Board.

In this situation, plus the government's need of new financing, the board has acted to widen credit sources by lowering the reserve requirement. By this move, effective early in July, bank funds of nearly $6,000,000,000 are made available for lending.

Not only will the credit stringency be eased, but the government should be able to borrow at a lower rate than otherwise would have been likely. Whether a new inflationary spiral will be set in motion by this move, and others can only be revealed by the passage of time.

How To Keep Well

Easy And Difficult Tanning

Each generation of children must be taught the danger associated with too much sun. Some will believe what they hear but others must learn for themselves; the penalty is a severe burn, sometimes of the second or third degree. The ideal arrangement is to work up to a tan gradually. The secret is to limit exposure the first few days to less than a half hour and no more than 15 minutes if the sun is intense. Special precautions ought to be taken when bathing or sitting in a boat because the dose is doubled by the direct rays from above and those reflected from the water. On the next day, the time usually can be doubled and by the third day, an hour is well tolerated. There is little need to worry thereafter provided the individual is reasonable and does not fall asleep or sit out all day on the beach reading a book.

Not every one tans alike. Some never tolerate the sun and for this reason no hard and fast rules can be made. Each one must make his own tests. The Nordic type blond with blue eyes and smooth, light skin fares worst because he is deficient in pigment which goes into the making of a good tan. Some burn so readily they must protect themselves with a parasol or wide brimmed hat throughout the summer. In addition, a small percentage are sensitive to ultra-violet and encounter a variety of rashes, bizarre pigmented areas, or even hives on exposure.

Tanning is symbolic of health and vigor. It indicates that the bronzed man or woman has been out of doors swimming, fishing, canoeing, or working in the garden. But in many respects this deep coloring represents a protest on the part of nature in attempting to protect the skin from the sun's rays. Pigment (melanin) is a response to irritation and a sign that the body probably has had enough. The more melanin, the deeper the color, and the less the chance for ultraviolet penetration. Freckles are traceable to the same pigment bearing cells. Some day we may learn that, once a tan has developed, no further benefit from the sun is possible.

Pigment screens out ultraviolet but overdosages leads to dryness and wrinkling of the skin. Surface cancers also are more common. In the south, for example, these lesions are more prevalent than in the north, where exposure is less. The same can be said of older farmers and sailors whose work keeps them out of doors in all sorts of weather for long periods of time. But tanning has nothing to do with the development of malignancy. If anything, the pigment under the skin appears to protect; statistics show that, among those exposed, the man or woman who does not tan easily is more likely to become a victim. This means blue and grey eyed, blond, or redhead types. So far as cancer is concerned, the color of the eyes is a better clue than the texture of the skin. It is here that the hereditary aspect may enter the picture.

LOW PRESSURE

P. L. writes: What is orthostatic hypotension?

REPLY

A giddy feeling that comes on after rising from a chair or bed or after violent exercise. The upright posture brings a fall in blood pressure of 30 to 60 points. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on low blood pressure.

CONVULSIVE TENDENCY

P. L. writes: One of my young children always develops convulsions when he is sick with a fever. He does not have epilepsy, according to the doctor. Why do these convulsions occur?

REPLY

Convulsions often are associated with infectious diseases in young children, possibly because their immature nervous system is easily irritated. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on convulsions.

VARIED OUTLOOK

H. W. writes: How long does it take to recover from jaundice?

REPLY

This depends upon the cause. In infectious hepatitis, for example, the condition may last for a few days to several months. Jaundice resulting from obstruction of the flow of bile by stone will persist until the rock is removed. Occasionally the origin of jaundice is difficult to determine and exploratory operation may be needed. Send stamped, addressed envelope for leaflet on jaundice.

PARAKEET AND ASTHMA

Mrs. D. writes: Is it wise for a person with asthma to buy a parakeet?

REPLY

No harm may follow, but the asthmatic is potentially allergic to so many irritants including feathers, that it may not be wise to buy a parakeet. Should he do so, and two years later become sensitive to feathers or dander, it would be difficult to part with the bird if he has become a pet. By taking a sensible attitude now, such a separation won't be necessary later.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Has Chance To Harass Reds With Bread And Butter Gift; Can Unload Surplus And Win Rioting Berliners; People Behind Curtain Still Smouldering

WASHINGTON — When German crowds faced Red Peoples' Police in East Berlin, threw rocks and logs into the tracks of tanks, burned the pictures of Stalin, one complaint they hurled at their Red masters was "butter."

East Germany long has been the food bowl of Germany. West Germany, with its heavy industrial population, depended on East Germany which overflowed with wheat, milk, butter.

But under Red rule East Germany's food wealth has been: 1, siphoned off into Russia; 2, trampled in the mud of discouragement by Soviet farm quotas. Last winter in Berlin I talked with refugee after refugee who had left family farms owned for centuries—all because Communist quotas were impossible to meet. So crowds in the street, fighting Soviet tanks with bare hands, sticks and stones, taunted their Red rulers with: "Butter!"

Heaven-Sent Moment

Two facts should be obvious from the above:

A. Now is the time for the Eisenhower administration, elected on the pledge to do something behind the iron curtain, to act. In speech after speech, both John Foster Dulles and the President himself decried the static policy of the Truman administration, said the cold war should be ended by stirring up peoples behind the iron curtain.

B. The United States now has on hand 246,561,000 pounds of butter acquired at the taxpayers' expense, which probably cannot be dumped on our own market without ruining farmers and which will not keep indefinitely. Eventually butter gets rancid. A modest amount of this surplus sent to Berlin right now would give the Reds the heebie-jeebies.

Berlin is a city in which it is extremely difficult to prevent people from passing back and forth between East and West. I have crossed back and forth into the Soviet zone a dozen times. Several thousand people cross back and forth daily on their way to work.

If the Russians refused to admit into East Germany a gift of free butter from the U.S.A., it would be a simple matter for the giant U. S. radio station in Berlin, RIAS, to announce that East Berliners could come across the line and get it.

The same could be done with excess wheat, now stored away in decrepit ships in the Hudson River. A million loaves of bread require a relatively small amount of wheat. Yet a million loaves of bread in Berlin right now might take East Germany permanently out from under the iron curtain.

Dead Wall Of Inaction

However, when American Relief Agency officials have approached Secretary of Agriculture Benson on these problems they have got nowhere. Secretary Benson is a most sincere and religious gentleman. Twice when an American Relief Agency chief has called on him regarding the disposal of our giant stores of surplus food, the secretary of Agriculture has asked him to bow his head in prayer. But he has given no answer about releasing a small part of our surplus food.

Last week, certain farmers wanted to donate wheat themselves to help send a million loaves of bread to embarrass the Reds in Berlin but Harold Stassen could not even be reached on the telephone to say whether his Mutual Security Administration would help pay the ocean freight.

In the past, Mutual Security has helped out with the ocean freight when individual Americans contributed to relief abroad. But Stassen would not even take telephone calls, though repeated efforts were made to reach him.

Other Side Of Yalta

Meanwhile people behind the iron curtain are still smouldering, still hoping for some token of support. Free elections are supposed to be guaranteed them under the Yalta pact. So far, we have taken the raw end of Yalta. Now we have an opportunity to push the other end in a way which will cause great embarrassment in Moscow, great encouragement in Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, East Germany, Romania.

The above is written by one who two years ago went to the Czech border to help release freedom balloons to the Czech people. Those balloons, carrying mere messages of friendship, stirred up the nation, caused a Czech freedom train to bolt across the borders, unquestionably contributed to current ferment. If mere leaflets scattered from balloons can do this, imagine what a million loaves of bread and a few tons of surplus butter could do in Berlin!

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Test Of Opinion

Houston, Texas, is a typical American city independent in thought, unaffected by the intensified European propaganda which makes New York, for example, such a strange place to other Americans at times.

"The Houston Chronicle" took a test vote on the Korean problem and up came a sample of public opinion that ought not to go unnoted. (I omit the detailed questions, showing only the replies.) The report I have before me shows that 704 ballots were cast: 391 participants favor Syngman Rhee's action; 143 disapprove; 462 favor continuing the fight; 77 favor continuing truce negotiations on the present disgraceful basis; 156 would break off negotiations until Chinese troops are taken out of Korea.

"The Houston Chronicle" could not force anyone to vote, nor could it direct the response of public opinion. The sample, for one city, is a large one. Houston was one of the cities in Texas that was enthusiastic for General Eisenhower for President, although not quite as much so as Dallas.

How representative this sample vote is of the country, I do not know, but Houston is likely to speak in the American idiom, more so than New York and Washington, both of which are influenced profoundly by European, particularly British, considerations.

Public opinion in the United States is slow to make itself felt because we are all bewildered by the course of events. When the man on the street, who has his own affairs to look after, tries to analyze the course of events in Asia and Europe, he ofter wonders whether the United States is still the same old country and whether those who govern us have even an instinct, much less a reason, for what they are doing.

At any rate, Washington and London seem to treat Syngman Rhee as though the Koreans did not count and as though Korea were not their country. There seems even to have been a plan to "purge" the constituted authority of a foreign country. Americans have never been an imperialistic people and have never treated any human beings as colonials and do not care for that attitude. Most Americans are not sold on the United Nations and, although they are willing to accept its existence, they are not fooled by any such trickery as calling fine, upstanding American boys, United Nations troops.

They still wonder what really happened to General Douglas MacArthur and why he was kicked out, and why he was invited to dinner at the White House, where the President never once discussed Korea or the Korean truce with him. Also, most Americans would prefer that President Eisenhower stay in the United States and not chase around the world meeting so-called foreign statesmen. If anybody has to do that, let John Foster Dulles do it. He likes it. The Bermuda conference has now been postponed three times; it may never take place. It would be better if it never took place.

The Bermuda conference was a compromise with a British plan to call a four-power conference including Malenkov. American public opinion precluded a meeting with Malenkov, Winston Churchill, whose motto is trade at any price, has been acting as the broker to bring about an arrangement between the United States and Soviet Russia, so that Great Britain may trade freely with Soviet Russia without offending the United States.

To understand what happens in a country governed as Russia is by an oligarchy when the master dies, it is sound to have a look at the same country when Lenin died. The logical successor to Lenin was Trotsky; a triumvirate of Stalin, Kameney and Zinoviev took over; of these, Stalin was at the beginning the least significant. The premier was Rykov, who quickly lost power.

The best account of this period, by one who knew all the personalities and watched the fall of Trotsky and the rise of Stalin closely in Moscow, is William Reswick's "I Dreamt Revolution," published by Henry Regenry Co.

For 20 years, I have been imploring Reswick to write this account, as no student of Russian or Chinese problems can grasp what is happening in those countries without a knowledge of the whole story of the Bolsheviki. Reswick has written his book and those who really want to have a glance at the inner struggle in the Kremlin now can see it clearly in this book through the mirror of the days after Lenin died.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Real Eisenhower

WASHINGTON

The real story of what happened at Dartmouth — of how the President was stimulated to his famous denunciation of "book-burning" — is still highly relevant and important.

To begin with, the President's swing around the country that took him to Dartmouth was preceded by a long White House debate about "The McCarthy problem," as the President's advisors significantly call it. As is well known, the President personally not only detests Joseph R. McCarthy's methods but also abhors the man himself. The administration's surrenders to Senator McCarthy — and surrender, unfortunately, is the only word to use — have been made for the sole purpose of maintaining the outward show of Republican unity.

When the President's speeches were being prepared, one group of Eisenhower's advisers urged him to speak to the country about "the McCarthy problem" almost as he speaks in private making no personal attack to be sure, but re-affirming American principles of fair play, and leaving no doubt as to his feelings about the McCarthy methods. This advice was inevitably opposed by the other White House faction, which advocates Republican unity at all costs.

The result was a compromise. A passage was inserted in the President's speech at Mount Rushmore, warning against those who would "guard freedom with weapons from the arsenal of the tyrant."

Language Not Pointed

More than one of those traveling with the President plainly stated that these words were spoken with Senator McCarthy in mind. There is no doubt that this was the intention. But the intention was not fulfilled. The President's language, though noble and sincere, was not sufficiently pointed. What was said at Mount Rushmore attracted little attention.

By way of contrast, there was no intention to take any sort of stand on any serious problem at the Dartmouth commencement, where the President's language attracted world attention. The whole thing happened on the platform, while the Dartmouth graduating class was filing into its places.

In this happy academic interval, the President, Judge Joseph M. Proskauer of New York, former German High Commissioner John J. McCloy and Canada's Minister of Foreign Affairs Lester Pearson were sitting together on the dais. Judge Proskauer, who was sitting next to McCloy, raised the subject of "book-burning" — of the removal from American libraries abroad of all books by authors or on subjects that might just possibly displease Senator McCarthy.

For McCloy, this was a burning issue. The libraries of the "America House," in Germany had always been one of McCloy's great interests. In his last year as high commissioner, he had seen them used by no less than 15,000,000 Germans. Nothing had contributed more importantly, McCloy believed, to showing the real America to German people.

Ike Indignant

Then, too, with the beginning of the McCarthy-stimulated "book-burning" by the State Department, scores of Germans had started writing to McCloy. The worried Germans asked whether America had changed, whether freedom of thought was no longer in fashion here, even whether America was taking the road Germany took 20 years ago. Many of these letters came from real leaders of German thought. Under the circumstances, McCloy replied to Proskauer with some warmth.

Foreign Minister Pearson was then drawn into the discussion. He pointed out, entirely correctly, that the book-burning had done America's prestige untold damage in many other countries besides Germany. At this the President pricked his ears, as it were. He had not been following the conversation, but now he asked what his companions were talking about.

When he was told, he was visibly indignant. His first re-action — which is immensely interesting in itself — was to deny the whole story. Nothing of the sort could be going on, he said; no order had been issued to censor the American overseas libraries.

His companions assured Eisenhower that he was not fully informed; that book burning, at least in the figurative sense, was actually taking place on a major scale; and that orders for this practice had, in fact, been issued. The President flushed. And when his turn came to speak, he said, in plain and stirring words, just what he thought of book-burning, for the whole world to hear.

This incident and its sequels illustrate dramatically the difference between the real Eisenhower and the public Eisenhower. The real Eisenhower, spontaneous and truly himself, appeared at Dartmouth. The public Eisenhower was exhibited a couple of days later at the President's press conference.

By then, the political mice who are always trying to nibble the President to death, or at least into meaninglessness, had had time to do their work. The press conference smudged and muddled the stand the President took at Dartmouth, so much so, indeed, that the President had to reassert his veiws in his letter to the American libraries. Yet, the mice are still nibbling.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It is doubtful whether the American people have any idea of just what commitments are being made to involve the United States in military action in different parts of the world. A case in point is the negotiation going on between President Eisenhower and President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea.

For, in effect, the United States has agreed to "go it alone" in Korea, irrespective of the United Nations, in the event of future aggression which the UN does not resolve to resist.

The language of the proposed "mutual defense pact" with Korea is supposed to be identical with the text of the treaties of mutual defense, already ratified by the Senate, with the Philippines and with Australia and New Zealand. The pertinent articles read:

"Article IV: Each party recognizes that an armed attack in the Pacific area on either of the parties would be dangerous to its own peace and safety and declares that it would act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes.

Uses NATO Text

"Any such armed attack and all measures taken as a result thereof shall be immediately reported to the Security Council of the United Nations. Such measures shall be terminated when the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to restore and maintain international peace and security.

"Article V: For the purpose of Article IV, an armed attack on any of the parties is deemed to include an armed attack on the metropolitan territory of any of the parties, or on the island territories under its jurisdiction in the Pacific or on its armed forces, public vessels or aircraft in the Pacific."

The language of these treaties makes it clear that the action to be taken is irrespective of the Security Council of the U. N., and the only requirement is that the measures taken must be "immediately reported" and that they must be terminated when the Security Council takes the "measures necessary to restore and maintain international peace and security."

This is the same text that was used in the North Atlantic Treaty organization, usually referred to as NATO. But it is doubtful whether the average man in America knows what this very tactfully worded language means in terms of sending American troops overseas.

In the case of Korea, it means that, if trouble arises as it did in June 1950, the Republic of Korea would expect the United States to act at once without reference to the United Nations Security Council.

There is a distinct difference in the case of NATO because all 12 countries are bound together to take concerted action. In the Pacific, bilateral alliances have been set up instead of a regional arrangement encompassing all the countries with interests in that area. Great Britain and France have a direct interest in the Pacific but are not obligated to come to the aid of the countries with which the United States has signed or will be signing mutual defense pacts.

An examination of the language of the recently ratified treaties with the Philippines and with Australia and New Zealand shows that, if the same text is used in the treaty with Korea, it does not necessarily mean instantaneous action. Indeed, there is a question as to what is meant by the declaration that the United States "would act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

"Going Is Alone" Policy

Does this mean that the President would ask Congress for authority to use or armed forces instantly, or that he would act and then ask for ratification of the steps he will have taken? Or does it mean that the Truman-Acheson interpretation of the Constitution—presumably ignoring the war-making power of Congress whenever the executive chooses to disregard it—is to be the pledge implied in the forth-coming Korea-American defense pact?

Maybe Syngman Rhee isn't getting an assurance of an ironclad nature at all through the type of treaty at present being offered him by Washington. That's why he wants a treaty with "automatic" intervention—that is, without any step requiring a request from the President for authority from Congress for immediate action.

The willingness of the President to sign any mutual defense treaty with Korea only is, of course, a "going it alone" policy on the part of the United States. It is as detached from the UN as is the NATO treaty. But the critics who were so quick to jump on Senator Taft recently when he stated plainly the facts of life with reference to the UN in the Far East, are strangely silent now and evidently see nothing wrong in a commitment with a single country that could obligate America to go to war on the mainland of Asia.

Surely the policy of the United States in the long run will have to be modified to negotiate a wider alliance like NATO for the Pacific, after which all the bilateral pacts would be repealed or susperseded.

Traffic Expert Says Car Worse Than Fireworks

The fireworks which have been generally banished as too dangerous for celebrating July 4th have been succeeded by a worse killer—the family car.

Paul E. Burke, director of the Maryland State Traffic Safety Commission, says that a quarter century ago when still in their heyday, fireworks took 26 lives on July 4 while last year traffic accidents killed 348 during Independence Day weekend. Thus, he points out, on the basis of these figures the automobile is about 1300 per cent the more deadly "and should be handled more watchfully than a giant-firecracker with the fuse lighted."

Burke said he believes that the automobile toll on Fourth of July would be "appreciably reduced" if motorists would follow these suggestions:

(1) Take long trips by easy stages. Make a coffee stop of ten minutes every two hours. Refreshment and rest will help ready muscles and reflexes for the next leg of the journey.

(2) Stay unruffled. Irritation blurs judgment and leads to dangerous chance-taking.

(3) Schedule departure early enough for arrival on time at the destination. Include adequate time allowances for coffee and rest stops, meals and possible delays so that no speeding is necessary to arrive at the hour selected.

"Y" Day Camp Plans Are Set

The Central YMCA is receiving registrations for the 1953 season of the annual Day Camp. The camp this year is to be conducted Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday each week, beginning July 7. Highlighting the program will be a sports league, softball, recreational swimming and swimming instruction, camp craft, Indian lore and interesting "Go and See Trips" to industrial plants and points of historical interest.

Tuesday will be given over to a program at the YMCA while on Wednesday the group will visit Constitution Park, using the city pool for swimming and on Thursday and Friday, it is anticipated the campers will visit the Cardinal Club on Oldtown Road.

A staff of qualified leaders, under the direction of Clifton Van Roby, physical director, and Ralph L. Lewis, program secretary, is being trained to carry on the program. Jack Chisholm Jr. will be senior leader assisted by Lance Statler, who will supervise the swimming program at the YMCA Pool.

Roby announced yesterday registrations for the camp, which is operated in six one-week periods, will be received until Friday evening for the first camp week. Plans have been completed to accommodate 35 campers a period. Day campers hold regular YMCA memberships and are eligible to participate in all YMCA activities.

350 Couples Get Licenses To Wed Here During June

June kept up its tradition as a marrying month as 350 marriage licenses were issued during the month in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

That total was three more than June, 1952's total of 347. Although last month was the third successive month in which more licenses have been issued than in the corresponding months of 1952, the six-month total this year is 1,409 to 1,473 in the same period a year ago. Poor records in February and March this year have hurt the current figure.

The monthly totals:

For 1953, January, 199; February, 175; March, 206; April, 250; May, 229; June, 350. For 1952, January, 195; February, 227; March, 245; April, 232; May, 227; June, 347.

More applicants for licenses came from Pennsylvania than from any other state. However, 15 states, stretching all the way from Massachusetts to Kansas and Texas were represented. They also include Maryland, West Virginia, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Connecticut, New Jersey, Florida, Illinois, Virginia and Kentucky.

Phone Company Has $10 Profit, Gets Rate Hike

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 30 (AP)—The Rockville and Kingwood Telephone Co., which last year showed a profit of $10, was granted a rate increase Monday by the Public Service Commission.

The increase affects the company's 110 subscribers at Albright, Preston County. It will become effective July 1.

At a PSC hearing before the increase was granted, Arlie F.Davis, company president, said his concern was "operating on a shoestring, and we still will be if we are granted this increase."

Last year company income amounted to $2,278.23—$10 over operating expenses. "It was the first time in several years we came out with a ten dollar bill ahead," Davis told the PSC.

The increase will raise residential telephone rates from $9.50 to $12 semi-annually and business rates from $11.50 to $15 for the same period.

Driver Inspects Sports Car Race Course At Port

Dr. Jesse Wyllie, director of the Steel City Region branch of the Sports Car Club of America, has inspected the race course mapped out on the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

The race track will be used for the sports car races at the airport on July 19. The races are being sponsored by the Lions Club and the Sports Car Club for the benefit of the Children's Sight Conservation program in Allegany County.

After making several laps around the track, Wyllie expressed complete satisfaction from the driver's viewpoint. He said the number of sharp turns and the straightaway would make the races exciting for both the drivers and the spectators.

From the spectator area it is possible to see completely the driver's action, both hands and feet, as he manhandles his car around a 90-degree turn.

From another point on the course, the cars make a 120-degree turn within 40 feet of the edge of a deep ravine. This corner, along with others, will be lined with haybales in order to protect the cars and drivers in case of accidents.

Dr. Wyllie added there would be a pile of shredded rubber on the outside of each corner. This rubber would be scrubbed off the racers' tires by the sharp gravel that is embedded in the runways.

If the runway pavements were not in such good condition, he said, these racing tires would last considerably longer. Because of this situation, spectators will probably see pit crews fueling cars and changing tires, putting the vehicle back on the track in less than a minute.

Building Permits $78,815 In June

Building permits for construction estimated to cost $78,815 were issued by the City Building Engineer's Office last month.

Included were 17 new structures, 11 of them dwellings, valued at $75,465. Four addition and alteration permits were valued at $3,350.

The value of the permits was slightly less than during May, when permits for building jobs valued at $103,500 were issued.

Boys of 13 in Glasgow, Scotland, were 6.2 inches taller and 2.65 pounds heavier than their elder brothers were at 13 in 1945 says a recent health report.

Ebert Will Attend Jewelers' Meeting

The two weeks of study in New York City will feature lectures and discussions, field trips to stores, and visits to jewelry and watch manufacturing plants. The program is being given in cooperation with the American National Retail Jewelers Association and the National Jewelers Association.

by REP. DE WITT S. HYDE

WASHINGTON—Not all of the "mess" we heard so much about last fall was in the city of Washington. Some of it spilled over into Frederick County, Md.

Last February I was told that the Three Springs Fisheries, which raises aquarium plants and goldfish, expected an "effort" by the Eisenhower administration to close the Lilypons post office, reportedly located "nearby" the fisheries.

The firm, which ships through the mail, said the Lilypons post office was showing a profit; that the firm was not "unduly alarmed" over the half-billion-dollar loss by the Post Office Department last year; that the Lilypons postmaster was resigning, and that while the firm had "no one to recommend" for the job, they would feel "highly honored" if they were informed in advance as to who would get it.

But here is what postal inspectors reported: In the last four years, the Lilypons post office has lost $4,513. It only takes in that much in one year, so this means that it's being run completely at the taxpayers' expense every fourth year. Simple arithmetic proves this.

The postmaster has been making $3,917 a year. The messenger (who is also an employe of the fisheries) get $80 a month from the government for carrying the mail back and forth to a neighboring larger post office.

The Lilypons post office is not "nearby" the Fisheries. It's in the firm's shipping room—a six-and-a-half-foot-square space for which the government pays $300 a year rent to the fisheries.

"There is no town located at Lilypons," the postal inspectors said. "There are no residences. In fact, the only building is the Three Springs Fisheries.

"The Post Office Department is of the opinion that the Lilypons post office is not needed," they said.

Postmaster General Summerfield is trying in every way to reduce that big annual deficit he has inherited. He is asking for higher postal rates to help get out of the red. But postal rates would have to go sky-high in order to make up for obvious waste in the department.

One way to save money is to close up unnecessary post offices. Some will say it's a drop in the bucket to lock up an operation which only loses a thousand dollars a year or so. But there are hundreds of places like Lilypons across the U. S. To save a thousand dollars means to save all the taxes paid by two average families in Maryland, and to me, that's worth something.

I have informed the officials at Lilypons that I know of no reason to keep their post office open.

There are as many as 750,000 tiny air cells in an ordinary bottle cork, says the National Geographic Society. In addition to its lightness and resilience, cork is almost impervious to gases and liquids.

PreNuptial Parties Continue In Honor Of Beverly Wilson

Is Fiancee Of Paul E. Shobe

Miss Betty Tyree was hostess at a pre-nuptial party and miscellaneous shower in compliment to Miss Beverly Wilson, last evening at her home, Braddock Road.

A pink and aqua color scheme was carried out in the decorations by Miss Tyree. Bouquets of flowers and a large pink umbrella were used in the livingroom and the shower gifts were arranged in a woven clothes basket tied with ribbons. The same colors were repeated in the table appointments and the place cards were clothespins bearing the names of the guests, they were attached to the napkins.

Girl Scouts Camp Opens July 12

Camp Green Ridge, the Cumberland Girl Scout Established Camp, will open July 12th with a capacity registration for the one week period, Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive director, said last evening.

Additional registrations are available for the July 19, August 2 period. Brownie Scouts may register for one or two weeks of the second period, and Intermediate and Senior Scouts for two weeks only.

A letter containing the health blank and additional information about camp is being mailed this week to parents of girls who have registered for the first week.

The first nights program at camp is to open with a ceremony during which an ember from the last campfire of the 1952 season will be placed on this year's first campfire.

Registration for the first week includes girls from Troops 1, 3, 5, 9, 12, 13, 17, 19, 24, 30, 33, 34, 43 and 44 of Cumberland Council as well as girls from Keyser, Romney, Frederick and Alexandria, Va.

During the four day pre-camp training session for counselors, Joseph Minke, state fish and game warden, will conduct a tour of the Green Ridge State Forest, to better acquaint the staff with the areas surrounding the camp and the possibilities of hiking, exploring and nature study. Conservation projects will be developed through consultation with the Fish and Game commission, and the state Forestry department.

Music and dramatics will be one of this year's program highlights. It is to be under the leadership of Miss Mildred Reagan, Mt. Savage. The craft program includes the making of puppets with Miss Mary Frances Coffey as crafts director. Discarded electric light bulbs are to be used as a base for modeling the heads, and anyone having any to discard, is asked to bring them to camp with them, or leave them at the scout headquarters. Scrap pieces of material, old felt hats, leather pocketbooks, discarded nylon stockings and candle ends can also be used in the craft work and puppetry.

A camp newspaper with Miss Mary Elizabeth Straw as editor-in-chief, will give the campers in each unit a chance to write about their most interesting activities, and their program plans for the future.

Camperships for girls to attend one or two week periods have been given by the Woman's Civic Club, Woman's Association of the First Presbyterian Church, Exemplar Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, Woman's Guild of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad YMCA, B'er Chayim Sisterhood, McKinley Chapter, No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star, Junior Woman's Civic Club and Miss Elizabeth L. Germans Attack Sen. McCarthy's Book Program

HAMBURG, Germany, July 1 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Joseph McCarthy's program to rid U. S. information libraries all over the world of certain types of books was attacked today by an influential German weekly.

This week's issue of the independent Die Zeit front-paged an article entitled "Goebbels' descendants in America."

The article accuses the Wisconsin Republican of doing practically the same Goebbels did 20 years ago when he burned the books of Thomas Mann, Stefan Zweig and other anti-Nazi writers in front of Berlin University.

"And today again books are eliminated, smashed, burned, locked away. This time it happens in American libraries, established by the U. S. Information Service in various countries," the paper said.

The article quoted Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, who on May 9, 1933, shouted:

"The old is ablaze. This is a great, strong and symbolical action. The spirit of a new phoenix will rise victoriously from the ashes."

This phoenix, the article said, was an ugly one, one that was unable to live. "One man can rarely suppose that McCarthy will have a better experience."

Coney Island Barred To Second-String Reds

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—The 12 second-string Communists now free on bail awaiting appeal of their conspiracy convictions can't go to Coney Island, Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ruled today.

They asked through counsel that limits of their bail be extended so they could escape the city heat by subway and go to the Coney Island beaches.

The hitch is that Coney Island is part of Brooklyn and lies in the Eastern Federal District of New York.

They were convicted in Manhattan which lies in the Southern Federal District and they'd be skipping bail if they left its boundaries.

Everest Climber Wins Decoration

LONDON, Thursday, July 2 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's office announced today Queen Elizabeth has awarded the George Medal to Tiger Tenzing for his part in topping Mt. Everest.

Friends of the Nepal-born Indian guide in Katmandu recently expressed resentment over the prospect of a lower class award for Tenzing. They said he at least was entitled to the George Cross, which is a cut above the medal in connotation of honor.

New Zealand beekeeper Edmund Hillary, who reached the 29,002, foot crest with Tenzing, and the expedition leader, Col. John Hunt, both were knighted for the feat.

When the party returned to Katmandu from Everest, King Tribhuvana of Nepal gave Tenzing his highest possible award, the Star of Nepal First Class, and lesser honors to Hillary and Hunt.

Tenzing and his Indian wife and two daughters are en route by plane from New Delhi with the rest of the Everest party to take the honors in London.

Britain To Urge Talks With Soviet At Big 3 Meeting

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—Britain will again urge top level talks with Russia when the Big Three Western foreign ministers meet in Washington next week, an authoritative source said tonight.

Acting Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury will meet with U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and, the informant said, he may be expected to:

1. Inform them that Prime Minister Winston Churchill's illness in no way alters Britain's stand that early discussions should be arranged with the Russians at the highest level to ease world tension.

2. Outline just why the British government considers it essential to leave all ways open for the Russians to show they sincerely want better relations with the West.

The informant is in a position to interpret official British thinking. He made the statement in answering reporters' questions.

His statements reflected slight differences with Washington where President Eisenhower has appeared less eager for a meeting with Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov than Churchill.

"You can take it, the policy of seeking that sort of meeting with the Russians is government policy. And Mr. Churchill is still Prime Minister," the informant said.

At the same time, five Laborite members of Parliament, close supporters of leftwinger Aneurin Bevan, introduced a motion in the House of Commons calling for early talks with Russia. The motion urged "Her Majesty's government to make its prime concern in the forthcoming three-power negotiations to insure that an early conference with the Soviet leaders takes place."

Earlier, another British informant asserted the Soviets are quite free to rejoin the long-idle four-power Allied Control Council which ran post-war Germany.

His view appeared to run counter to a statement attributed yesterday to the U. S. high commissioner in Germany, James B. Conant. The envoy told a Bonn news conference he and his British and French opposite numbers will be "careful to avoid any revival of the old four-power Allied Control Council."

STRIKE SNARLS TRAFFIC—Main St. Louis thoroughfares were jammed with automobiles yesterday after a wildcat strike of AFL operators halted bus and streetcar service. The strike began at midnight Tuesday and caught the public by surprise. An idea of the jam is gained from this view of Lindell boulevard.

June 17 Memorial Day In W. Germany

BONN, Germany, July 1 (AP)—The West German Parliament tonight voted to make June 17—when the people of the East zone revolted against Communist rule—a national memorial day.

The vote came after Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told the Bundestag (lower house) the Russians had executed 62 persons in stamping out the rebellion.

The Chancellor said the Communists admitted another 25 were killed and 388 wounded, while 25,000 had been arrested.

"The dead will be enshrined forever in the memory of the German people," he declared.

At the end of a foreign affairs debate, the House reaffirmed its demands for free elections throughout Germany and the conclusion of a peace treaty with a sovereign all-German government.

Some of the extinct moas, a New Zealand bird, were 12 feet tall.

Pickets Will Wear Appropriate Garb

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Attendants and guards at the Metropolitan Museum want a $500-a-year pay hike.

So to tell the public what they think of their present pay scale ranging up to $3,400, four of them will picket tomorrow garbed—how else?—as a cave man, toga-clad ancient Greek, knight in armor and soldier of the Continental Army.

About 170,000 forest fires occur annually in the United States.

Record German Budget

BONN, Germany, July 1 (AP)—The West German Bundestag, lower house of Parliament, tonight approved a 1953-54 budget equivalent to $6,545,000,000. It was the largest budget in the four-year-old Bonn Republic's history.

Hoover Praises Ike's Food Plan

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP)—Former President Hoover said today President Eisenhower's proposal to use the nation's huge stocks of surplus food to feed hungry people abroad would save lives and make friends.

Hoover described as a "constructive recommendation" Eisenhower's request to Congress for authority to distribute surplus food to famine areas overseas. And Hoover added in a prepared statement:

"Such a humanitarian program will bring results in saving human life and building friendship. An additional reason could be given. These surplus food accumulations of our government are perishable, and to withhold them until they spoil is unthinkable. Twice before, after both World Wars One and Two, the skill and energy of the American farmer and the generosity of our people have saved uncounted lives."

Hoover was head of food relief work after World War I.

Baltimore Co. Board Press Ban Assailed

TOWSON, Md., July 1 (AP)—A ban against the press and public at meetings of the Baltimore County Commissioners drew fire today from the county League of Women Voters and the president of the Maryland Press Association.

Mrs. Margaret Shock, spokesman for the league, protested the "deplorable and unrealistic attitude of the county commissioners."

Norman W. Harrington, editor and manager of the Easton Star-Democrat and president of the press association, pointed to the action of the commissioners as an example of "a growing tendency on the part of some public officials in Maryland to regard public business as none of the public's business."

Mrs. Shock said in her statement the ban was "indicative of the inadequacy of the present government under the three-man system." There are three members of the county commission.

Ex-TCA Official Answers Charge Of Absenteeism

EAST LANSING, Mich., July 1 (AP)—Charges of frequent absenteeism from Washington and other complaints were answered today by Dr. Frank E. Sorenson, who resigned a month ago as chief of the education section of the Technical Cooperation Administration (TCA).

"If there is any criticism of my absenteeism from Washington, it should be that I didn't travel enough, especially abroad," said Sorenson. "That type of job requires a lot of field work.

"The best job isn't always done by the fellow who sits in Washington shuffling papers."

Ex-Professor Made Charges

The charges were made before a House government operations subcommittee yesterday by Dr. Thomas R. Fisher, former Syracuse University professor and assistant director of education and training for the TCA.

Sorenson, who resigned his TCA post a month ago, was at Michigan State College to lecture to technicians being trained under the Point Four program.

Fisher charged that he was paid $9,600 a year but given no specific job to do, that he never had more than three minutes conversation with Sorenson, that he was never told what the TCA's formal educational plan was and that Sorenson was absent from Washington "33 per cent of the time."

"Nothing Personal"

Sorenson said there was "nothing personal" between him and Fisher. But he added Fisher was moved into his department without his knowledge and he asked to have him shifted because of his qualifications were not those needed for the position of deputy.

Although no suitable job could be found for him, we did give him certain responsibilities since it was not possible to make the shift," Sorenson said.

He said Fisher was given one overseas assignment in Saudi Arabia and was given several important research projects to do.

"If he didn't work on them," that's his problem," he said.

He termed "inaccurate" Fisher's charge that he never had more than three minutes conversation with him.

Commerce Offices Closed

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks today ordered the shut down July 31 of 11 of his department's 42 field offices over the country. He said it will save $200,000 a year.

The offices to be closed include Baltimore.

Housewives Union?

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 1 (AP)—Mrs. Walter P. Reuther, wife of the CIO president, said today housewives should have their own trade union. Then she regretfully added:

"My husband has never got around to organizing it."

Slayings Touch Off Death Penalty Debate In Commons

LONDON, July 1 (AP)—The lurid Notting Hill sex slayings touched off an eruption in the House of Commons over the death penalty today as all Britain argued the question:

Were there two stranglers in the dingy back-street house where John Christie has confessed to killing seven women?

Christie was convicted last week and sentenced to hang July 15. His lawyer today appealed for mercy.

Left-wing Laborite Sidney Silverman introduced a motion in the House to suspend the death penalty in Britain for the next five years. He said there was deep suspicion that an innocent man, Timothy Evans, was hanged in 1950 for one of the murders which Christie confessed.

The motion to take up the bill was defeated 256-195 in a non-party vote.

Evans lived in the same grimy house in Notting Hill as Christie. The strangled bodies of Mrs. Evans and their infant daughter were found three years ago. Evans was charged with both crimes, but was tried only for the murder of the 14-month old child.

With Christie as a chief prosecution witness, he was convicted and hanged.

Then last week, Christie confessed he had strangled Mrs. Evans but denied he killed the baby.

Cries of "no" and "scandal" echoed in the Commons as Silverman charged that Evans was "convicted and hanged on a false charge."

The House voted in 1948, when Labor was in power, to suspend the death penalty, but it was overruled by the House of Lords. A royal commission is now studying the problem.

Today's action ended parliamentary debate until the commission reports.

Gov. McKeldin's Bid Rejected By Weeks

ANNAPOLIS, July 1 (AP)—Commerce Secretary Weeks has rejected Gov. McKeldin's bid to use Friendship International Airport for the Washington National Airport overflow instead of Andrews Air Force Base.

In a letter to the governor, Weeks said he feels that use of Andrews as a secondary field for Washington would be more efficient and economical.

McKeldin had written Weeks after vigorous protests from residents in the Andrews Field area in Prince George's County against the plan to utilize the military installation for some civilian traffic.

Philippines President Gets Hopkins Checkup

Their statement was issued after the ailing 62-year-old Philippines president started a series of diagnostic tests at the hospital.

He arrived here yesterday after a long flight from Manila.

"Persecution" Of Teachers Hit

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., July 1 (AP)—A Washington, D. C. school executive said today "I think the time is coming when President Eisenhower will have to take the offensive against those who are trying to stifle the freedoms" of American school teachers.

"Teachers are always on the spot under the best of conditions," said Edgar Fuller, executive secretary of the National Council of Chief State School Officers.

"When you get this hysterical persecution, the situation becomes intolerable."

Fuller, interviewed at the convention of the National Education Association (NEA), said "The situation is getting better, though."

"It began to improve from the time of President Eisenhower's book burning speech at Dartmouth. I think from now on we are going to have less persecution of school teachers."

Declaring that most teachers are "too timid" in the fact of attacks on education, Fuller said the answer was for teachers to "crawl out of their shells and begin to fight for freedom of expression."

In one of the many departmental meetings during the third full day of the NEA convention, Frank Bass, executive secretary of the Tennessee Education Association, said schools have nothing to fear from legislative investigations "If the committees have the right motives."

Sen. McCarthy Under Fire For Attack On Dr. Pusey

APPLETON, Wis., July 1 (AP) — Members of the Board of Trustees of Lawrence College, at least one a strong Republican, today criticized Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) for what they called an "unfair and gratuitous attack" on Dr. Nathan M. Pusey who is leaving the presidency of Lawrence to become president of Harvard.

Wisconsin's junior senator was quoted in an Associated Press story last night as having described Pusey as "a man who has considerable intellectual possibilities, but who has neither learned nor forgotten since he was a freshman in college."

McCarthy, conceding that "I may not be entirely unbiased" because Pusey opposed his re-election last November, made the statement in a letter to Neal O'Hara, columnist of the Boston Traveler, who had asked what the senator thought of the new Harvard president.

Cola Parker, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Lawrence and president of the Kimberly-Clark Corp., said:

"Those familiar with Lawrence College and the activities of Sen. McCarthy can only conclude that the senator has gone overboard with respect to anyone who exercised his political right not to support McCarthy, or actively to support an opposing candidate, I have not seen the full text of Sen. McCarthy's statement. However, not only are the statements regarding Dr. Pusey, as quoted by the Associated Press, without justification, but they would indicate a lack of willingness on the part of Sen. McCarthy to endeavor to ascertain the facts before he spoke."

L. R. Watson, former chairman of the Wisconsin Eighth District of the Republican party and a longtime leader in the state GOP, said he felt "very badly about the Sen. McCarthy blast at Dr. Pusey . . . and I do hope that he has been misquoted."

Dr. Pusey's only comment was "when McCarthy's remarks about me are translated it means only —I didn't vote for him."

Parsons Is Graduate Of Dental School

PARSONS—Fred Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Parsons of Hambleton, received his degree of doctor of dental surgery from the University of Maryland on June 6.

Dr. Parsons graduated from Parsons High School in 1941 and served for three years with the U. S. Navy. He was graduated with a bachelor of science degree from Concord College, Athens, prior to entering the University of Maryland.

He took his State Dental Board examination last week at West Liberty and left on Monday for Pocomoke City, Md., near Ocean City, where he will establish his offices. His wife is the former Evelyn Carter. She and their daughter accompanied Dr. Parsons to Pocomoke City.

Stevenson Takes Dissenter's Role

ROME, Italy, July 1 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson took a dissenter's role tonight when told the Senate had voted to end the Mutual Security Administration on July 1, 1955. He feels the nation should not tie its hands in advance.

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate said:

"I know nothing of the circumstances of the Senate vote, which apparently would terminate military and economic aid in two years. But it would seem to me foolish to tie our hands. In such perilous times, what we need is more flexibility, not less."

"Remember, that's a curbstone opinion," he added. "It may be that there are other aspects to be considered."

Stevenson is in Italy on the final lap of a round-the-world tour.

Bids Requested For Insurance On City Fleet

Bids will be advertised by the City of Cumberland for fleet insurance on 82 pieces of equipment owned and operated in the various departments, according to Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk.

The bids will be opened at the meeting of the Mayor and Council July 20 at 10 a. m.

Insurance on the equipment will include fire, theft, comprehensive and public liability and property damages.

Coverage Costs $2,357

The fire, theft and comprehensive policy held by the city at present costs $276.95 and has a coverage totalling $186,890. The public liability and property damage policy has a coverage of $10,000 for each property damage accident and $25,000 and $50,000 for other accidents. Present coverage costs $2,357.

Some of the equipment does not have public liability and property damage coverage as they are not needed. These include air compressors and similar equipment which are not individual units but mounted on trucks. Fire, theft and comprehensive coverage is taken out on this type machine.

The Street Department has the most equipment with 24 pieces, mostly trucks. The street sweeping machine is insured for $7,000, catch basin cleaner, $6,000; loader, $2,500; roller, $4,000; large dump truck, $4,500; power shovel, $10,000; power bucket (two pieces), $2,700.

Police, Fire Coverage

Largest coverage for Police Department equipment is on the patrol-ambulance, $2,000. Most cruisers are insured for $1,500.

Heaviest insurance is carried on Fire Department equipment. The huge aerial ladder truck apparatus is covered for $24,000; the newest fire truck, bought in 1950, for $10,000 while the other older fire trucks carry $1,000 or $2,000. A dump truck used in maintenance at Municipal Airport is covered by $6,000 insurance. It was purchased last February for $5,994.

Vindex Man Shot By Brother-In-Law

Alleged "family trouble" over the weekend resulted in the shooting of Claude Rohrbaugh, 61, of Vindex.

Held in Garrett County Jail at Oakland on a charge of assault with intent to kill is his brother-in-law, Guy McRobie, 58. He faces grand jury action in September.

Sheriff Paul W. Fisher said the shooting occurred at the Rohrbaugh home early Sunday.

Last Saturday, he added, an argument developed between Rohrbaugh and McRobie and the latter shot at his brother-in-law, but missed. He then left the house, where he had lived since 1947, and remained overnight, returning on Sunday at 6:30 a. m., when the argument was resumed.

Rohrbaugh was shot in the back with a .22 calibre rifle and taken to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where the bullet was removed.

New Doors Installed For Ladder Truck

New doors are being installed in the center stall of Central Fire Station this week.

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said the new doors will allow about 12 more inches of clearance needed for parking the city's ladder truck. Only an inch or so of clearance has been available, he said.

The work is being done by the John S. Cook and Son, contractors.

Clinic To Aid Local Firms Set Tuesday

Through arrangement of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, manufacturers in the Cumberland area will have an opportunity on Tuesday, July 7, to discuss procurement problems with representatives of the Pittsburgh Ordnance District.

A special clinic, designed especially to assist small industries in the area, will be conducted in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber, said that ordnance officials want to get acquainted with local manufacturers, to find out what they are capable of manufacturing and what facilities they have. The clinic will be conducted by H. P. Semler, small business specialist of the district.

To Bring Forms

Semler will bring drawings, bid forms and specifications for various items which the government wishes to procure, Saeli said, and he will discuss the items with manufacturers who are interested in making them.

Heretofore, Saeli explained, small companies have thought it necessary to drive to Pittsburgh to examine drawings on proposed procurement, and for this reason have passed bids by. Now, however, they will have an opportunity to examine the drawings in their own locality.

Excellent Opportunity

Under the new system, where the drawings elicit an interest on the part of a manufacturer in bidding on an item, he will be furnished complete drawings, specifications and bid forms, without any charge.

"The personal advice of these Ordnance representatives will do much to dispel the mystery in government procurement," Saeli said.

"Ordnance officials have expressed a desire to inform small manufacturers of all ordnance procurement of which they are capable and see that they have the data necessary to prepare a bid. This is an excellent opportunity for more area producers to share in the defense program."

Blood Mobile Unit Slated Here Tuesday

The Red Cross mobile unit from Johnstown (Pa.) Regional headquarters will be in Allegany County two days next week to collect blood.

Monday, the unit will be in Lonaconing at the home of Alvin C. Neat Post 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and on the following day at the Eagles Home here on North Mechanic Street. Blood will be collected on both days from noon to 6 p. m.

Red Cross officials yesterday stressed the importance of keeping appointments in order that residents of Allegany County can continue to receive free blood under the Red Cross program.

An added drain on the blood supply, according to Mrs. Harry Beneman, chairman of the County Red Cross Chapter, is the allotment of a quota for processing into the derivitive, gamma globulin.

Gamma globulin, she explained, is used to combat the crippling effects of polio and the first mass innoculation against this disease is being conducted in Alabama.

"Walk-ins," those persons who are not scheduled and who wish to donate blood, will be serviced both here and in Lonaconing, Mrs. Beneman stated.

Pollack, Questioned In Alleged Shakedown, Charges "Smear"

BALTIMORE, July 1 (AP) — Jack Pollack, head of a district political organization and controversial figure in the state's Democratic politics, was called in today for a talk with the state's attorney about an alleged attempt to get $15,000 from a television station for passage of a zoning ordinance.

Pollack issued a statement later saying the whole thing is a smear hatched by Arthur B. Price, his political enemy. Price is president of City Council and presently acting mayor of Baltimore.

"I was requested by the state's attorney to see him," Pollack said. "I fulfilled that request."

Soypher Accepts Summons

Maurice J. Soypher, lawyer and member of the Maryland House of Delegates, showed up meantime at the sheriff's office to accept service of a summons requiring him to appear before the state's attorney next Monday.

Soypher was attorney for a group of residents in Northwest Baltimore who entered a formal protest when station WBAL sought a change in the zoning regulations so it could build a 750-foot transmitter tower on its property.

Price charged Monday there had been a "flagrant shakedown attempt" to get a $15,000 fee from the station to assure passage of the ordinance by City Council.

He did not specify who had attempted the shakedown.

The property involved is in the city's Fourth Legislative District, where Pollack is the dominant political figure.

Says No Basis To Charge

"There is no basis nor any foundation to this charge," Pollack declared after talking to the state's attorney.

"(Price) has a dislike for most people of the Fourth and Fifth Districts because he was not able to carry that area in his primary election. I believe he would stop at nothing to try and besmirch the character of most of the people in that area.

"If the WBAL officials or their attorneys had any charges to make they should have gone directly to the state's attorney's office."

Others interviewed by the state's attorney included the three city councilmen from the Fourth Legislative District, all Pollack men.

Bay Park Reopening Is Sought By State

BALTIMORE, July 1 (AP)—The State of Maryland today asked the Federal Court to let it reopen Sandy Point State Park, saying beaches for whites and Negroes there now are "at least equal."

A hearing on the motion to lift a federal injunction was set for tomorrow morning.

State officials said if the injunction is lifted the park would be ready for opening "on or before the Fourth of July."

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut issued the park-closing injunction early last month. He held that facilities were not substantially equal and that segregated beaches therefore were illegal and unconstitutional.

Affidavits filed by state officials showed that the work to make the beaches at least equal was begun June 15, after the judge's ruling.

Washington Transit Strike Is Delayed

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—Washington's threatening transit strike today was delayed at least 24 hours.

AFL union employes of the Capital Transit Co. agreed at a negotiating session this afternoon to take no action pending further conferences tomorrow.

Union negotiators, fighting for an improved pension plan, have the approval of union members for a strike call at any time now.

The authorization for a strike call was for anytime after 12:01 night session yesterday, union negotiators agreed to hold off the strike for further negotiation.

Sent To New Plant

BALTIMORE, July 1 (AP)—American Can Co. today announced the transfer of Raymond J. Odiorne, assistant manager of its Maryland plant in Baltimore for the past two years, to Lemoyne, Pa., to be manager of the new plant it is opening there.

Truck Crash Fatal To Pair

By The Associated Press

Two young North Carolina men were killed Wednesday in a spectacular truck crash northeast of Baltimore and a Southern Maryland youth died when his car rolled over four times and pinned him in a ditch.

The truck accident victims were identified as Morris V. Tew, 22, of Walstonburg, N. C. and William J. Oliver, 18, Wadesboro, N. C.

Killed in the Southern Maryland crash was Harold Milstead, 17-year-old Negro from Rison near La Plata.

The two young truckers died early Wednesday when their tractor-trailer, loaded with watermelons, hit a guard rail on U. S. 40, burst into flames and plunged off a bridge abutment into Bush River.

Police were told there was an explosion and that the truck was a mass of flames as it plunged down the embankment. The accident occurred near Edgewood.

Milstead died when he lost control of his car and it crashed early Wednesday on State Route 224 near Rison.

Hagerstown Having No Water Troubles

HAGERSTOWN, July 1 (AP) — Although some sections of Maryland are having water troubles because of a dry spell, Hagerstown has plenty and hit a record high consumption during the past week, the City Water Department said.

It said consumption went to 8,000,000 gallons daily. The normal daily rate is a little more than 7,000,000.

Although the Baltimore area is under water restrictions, Hagerstown could step up its flow to 12,000,000 gallons a day if needed, an official said.

Hagerstown Selected For Another Survey

HAGERSTOWN, July 1 (AP)—The U. S. Public Health Service announced today Hagerstown has been picked for a survey on the health and employment problems of elderly persons.

The city has been used for other surveys in the past.

Dr. Philip S. Lawrence of the local office of the Health Service, said the survey would get underway in about a week with about one household in seven being contacted.

Most of the questions will concern persons past 45 and include queries about health, present employment, recent jobs and opinions on retirement.

Lawrence said "health authorities are turning their attention to illness and problems affecting elderly people." Among these, he said, is the one of employment, particularly as related to the health of the individual.

N. J. Police Alerted For Smuggled Firecrackers

TRENTON, N. J., July 1 (AP) — New Jersey police were on the lookout today for bootlegged firecrackers smuggled into the state from Ohio, Indiana, Maryland and Virginia.

The Department of Labor and Industry — charged with upholding the state's 15-year-old anti-fireworks law — has made arrangements with police in neighboring Pennsylvania to seize all fireworks destined for New Jersey.

The department's district inspectors have been ordered on special patrols to prevent illegal sale of fireworks and to intercept bootleggers.

Gov. McKeldin Has Sleek New Auto

BALTIMORE, July 1 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has a brand new Cadillac, a 1953 job with air-conditioning white-wall tires and a glass partition between front and back seats that slides open at the push of a button.

The sleek black seven-passenger limousine was brought to the state police barracks at Waterloo today for installation of two-way radio.

A Cadillac representative said the model, which he described as standard except for the air-conditioning, cost the state $4,000. He said Maryland was granted a trade-in allowance on the old executive limousine. He said he believed the 1950 model had gone about 90,000 miles.

Ike Signs Emergency Federal Payroll Bill

WASHINGTON, July 1 (AP)—The threat of payless paydays for many government agencies was removed yesterday as President Eisenhower signed an emergency bill financing them for the month of July.

Without the legislation, many agencies would have been technically penniless when the new federal year starts at midnight, since the annual appropriation bills providing them funds have not cleared Congress.

Waxter Seeking Md. Welfare Job

BALTIMORE, July 1 (AP)—Thomas J. S. Waxter, head of the Baltimore City Welfare Department since 1935, confirmed today he is trying to get the job of state welfare director.

The state post has been vacant since J. Milton Patterson died in February.

Waxter confirmed he is one of those who has applied for the job.

A special committee set up by Russell S. Davis, commissioner of state personnel, is interviewing applicants and rating them on their qualifications.

Howard C. Beck Jr., city auditor and one of the heads of the city's emergency relief session early in the depression of the 30's, also revealed he is an applicant.

The Davis committee will turn its findings over to the State Board of Public Welfare, which will make the appointment.

Waxter now makes $12,500 a year as the city's welfare director. The state job pays $14,000.

New Telephone Cable

OCEAN CITY, Md., July 1 (AP) — Completion of a new cable running six miles north is expected to result in hooking 360 new telephones into the Ocean City exchange sometime in the next few days.

Montgomery County Tax Rate Trimmed

ROCKVILLE, Md., July 1 (AP) — Montgomery County residents yesterday received a tax rate cut of 21 cents as the county council adopted a record $26,858,009 budget.

The general county tax rate was trimmed from $2.10 to $1.89 despite a last minute plea from school officials for more funds.

The council also took five cents off the suburban district tax and killed a six-cent recreation tax formerly levied by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Despite the tax rate cut, however, many county residents expect higher tax bills. Many home owners have complained that their property assessments have been boosted 100 per cent or more.

Materials Decontrolled

Area Dairymen Buy Ayrshires

Local dairymen have recently made an initial purchase of registered Ayrshires according to the Ayrshire Breeders' Association Executive Secretary, Chester C. Putney of Brandon, Vermont.

They are William A. Moore and William Emrick of Mt. Savage and John W. Barton & Kay Nelson of Pinto. William Moore as well as the firm of Barton & Nelson bought three Ayrshires; while Emrick purchased one.

The transaction was recorded in the national office of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association in Brandon where complete records on all registered Ayrshires in the United States have been maintained since 1875.

Because of their ability to produce at a low cost an abundance of milk with an average butterfat test of 4%, the Ayrshire breed of dairy cattle has become increasingly popular with dairymen throughout the country.

Swedish Woman 4-H Leader Visits West Virginia

She Stayed First In Preston County

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — Of 35 Four-H club agents in Sweden, only three are women. One of these three is Ellen Larsson. Miss Larsson is the International Farm Youth exchangee from that country who is here in West Virginia this summer.

Her first stay was in Preston County. She is now living with farm families in Ritchie County.

In her county, Miss Larsson has 45 Four-H clubs with 500 members. From the town of Boras where she lives, Miss Larsson goes through the county giving short courses and demonstrations in homes and schools.

Once a year the 4-H'ers get together for three days. They have competition in games, health and safety programs, and demonstrations. Miss Larsson says the 4-H program is quite a lot like the program here in West Virginia.

But the 4-H program is for boys and girls from 11 to 16. From 16 to 35 years of age, young men and women belong to the Swedish Federation of Young Farmers—JUF. This organization has similar programs to those of the adult Agricultural Extension Service programs here. Just as the Agricultural Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H here in West Virginia, JUF is the parent organization in Sweden.

Miss Larsson attended both Volunteer 4-H Leaders' Conference and Older Club Members' Conference at Jackson's Mill.

She is the youngest of three children. As a young girl, Miss Larsson lived on a small farm. The family had some dairy cows and grew wheat, barley, beets, and other crops.

KEYSER—Paul Niner, 24, Berkeley Springs, and Eugene Kirby, 20, Pine Grove, students at Potomac State, each posted $300 bond for a hearing today at 11 a. m., before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle.

Keyser Police charge the men with releasing brakes of two parked automobiles, and pushing them down steep local streets at a late hour Tuesday night. One of the cars was parked in the rear of the Keyser High School, and the other on Spring Street.

The car parked behind the high school was pushed to School Street, and then started down the steep grade. The car crossed West Piedmont Street, entered the alley in the rear of the postoffice, and crashed into a garage beyond the Presbyterian Church. The car is owned by Page Entler, Keyser.

The other car, owned by Russell Rodeheaver, 126 Spring Street, was parked in front of his home. The brakes were released and the car pushed down the steep grade. It crashed into an automobile owned by Miss Mary Fuller, Spring Street. The car travelled about 250 yards, according to police, before striking the second auto. Damage to the two cars will amount to between $600 and $800.

The young men were arrested about 4 a. m. by city police officers Guy F. Clem and James Spurling, following identification given officers by John Stickley, who, thinking one of the cars was stalled, assisted in pushing it, then discovered that he had aided in a crime and notified police.

Jelly Roll Pinwheels

End that Fourth of July party with a bang by serving a Jelly Roll Pin Wheel for dessert. Nothing's more fun than celebrating this all American holiday with a party, when food, table decorations, and the yard all can carry the "red, white and blue" theme of the day. With our own Star Spangled banner floating from flag pole or porch, there's a security and satisfaction in gathering friends and family for a day of games and visiting.

The menu, planned to allow the hostess to enjoy the party rather than to cook and serve, will include Firecracker rolls, a Fourth of July version of the hot dog, the traditional potato salad, relishes, favorite beverages, and the Jelly Roll Pin Wheel for dessert. The party will pop with interest, fun and good eating.

Jelly Roll Pinwheel

1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 baker's jelly rolls
Toasted almond halves

Beat cream, sugar and vanilla extract together until stiff. Place jelly rolls together and spread whipped cream over top and sides of both rolls. Garnish top with toasted almond halves. Yield: 12-14 servings.

Firecracker Rolls

6 frankfurter buns
2 tablespoons mustard or catsup
6 frankfurters
6 green onions

Hollow out frankfurter buns from end to end with an apple-corer. Spread 1 teaspoon mustard or catsup inside hole of buns. Insert a frankfurter and a green onion into each bun. Wrap each filled bun in aluminum foil. Heat in a hot oven (400° F.) for fifteen minutes. Yield: 6 Firecracker Rolls.

Cranberry Angel Mousse

1 egg white, stiffly beaten; 2 cups whole cranberry sauce; 1 small angel food cake; ¾ cups heavy cream, whipped.

Fold stiffly beaten egg white into cranberry sauce. Slice angel food cake horizontally into 3 equal layers and spread cranberry mixture between. Frost top and sides with whipped cream. Refrigerate or freeze until firm. Serves 8.

Fromage Tea Cookies

½ cup cream cheese; 1 tablespoon cream, tablespoon spoon curran jelly; 25 vanilla wafers; ½ cup crushed vanilla wafers; sliced maraschino cherries.

Combine cream cheese, cream and jelly. Spread thinly on vanilla wafers. Dip in cookie crumbs. Garnish with cherry slices. Broil under moderate heat (350° F.) for 10 minutes. Makes 25 Fromage Tea Cookies.

Encouraging is this result of a recent nation-wide survey: Forty-eight per cent of young women believe if you are going to stay healthy you have to pay attention to the food values necessary to well-balanced meals. Fifty-six per cent say they actually pay attention to including specific food values in their diets. Three balanced meals a day, starting with breakfast, are a must to get all the food values you need.

For taste thrills, try this combination for "make your own" sodas. Defrost one package of frozen strawberries. Force the fruit through a sieve or beat to puree in an electric blender. Mix the two purees thoroughly. Put in glasses, filling about the bottom fourth of the glass. Pour in ginger-ale for a sweet drink or sparkling soda for a tangy drink. Top with a scoop of vanilla ice cream and serve immediately. Wonderful TV refreshment or a delightful surprise when the gang drops by for a chat.

Chives Add Zip And Color To Noodle And Tuna Casserole

Having a supper party in your garden or on your terrace? Why not make it especially festive and serve Chived Noodle Tuna Casserole, a gourmet-type dish that tastes so good your guests will never believe it was assembled from cans and packages. Tender egg noodles and canned tuna are temptingly combined with packaged cream cheese and chives and chicken soup to provide a bubbling casserole that will be the hit of the evening.

Chived Noodle Tuna Casserole

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
1 10½-ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 5-ounce package cream cheese and chives, softened
2 6½-ounce cans chunk-style tuna, drained
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons minced onion

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

In a saucepan, combine remaining ingredients; mix well. Bring to boiling point over medium heat, stirring constantly. Add cooked noodles; mix lightly. Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole; cover. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 25 minutes. Sprinkle with additional chopped chives, if desired.

My New York

by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK — If you read the gossip columns closely, the way everybody in this town does — including me; I read 'em and laugh at their occasional inaccuracies but all in all I guess I like them, because like everybody, I like to gossip—every now and then you learn that such-and-such an actress is being temperamental and giving the rest of the cast in her show a hard time. It usually is said about the most successful of the actresses and I usually read it faithfully and say, "My, my, is that so? I'd never have thought it."

I was brought up short the other day, though. I read in one of the gossip columns that Vanessa Brown had gone real temperamental because Tom Ewell, her co-star in "The Seven-Year Itch," had received five awards and she none. Well, I knew that was kind of silly because I know Vanessa — she's one of the eight or 10 girls I love — and I couldn't imagine her getting petulant or sulky and lousing up any show she was in. However, I was interested in how the rumor started, so I dropped her a note asking why. I got back five pages of absorbing comment — you know how those ex-Quiz Kids are when you get them going — and some of it, like this, made great good sense:

"This whole thing of being called prima-donna and temperamental is a little like a man's being greeted with 'I hear you've stopped beating your wife.' Anything you say then is damaging. Either, 'Why, yes, I've stopped beating her . . .' or 'Oh, no—it's not true.' 'Still beating her, eh, old boy?' is the then obvious retort.

"You're cooked. And the same goes with actresses the minute they are called temperamental, which is the minute they acquire any kind of standing at all and people care to know whether they are temperamental or not.

"As many an actor or actress knows before he or she accepts any engagement, he or she has to expect that there will be at least one major fight and one or two minor squirmishes (hey—that's good) in and during the engagement. * * * The fight cannot fail to leak out in print. Since the columnists and feature writers don't have all the facts at hand, however, these writers have to embroider on the few smidgens (where does she get these?) of truth they possess. And the easiest way to embroider is to call the actress temperamental and the actor jealous.

"And no effort on the part of the actor or actress can do anything to alter the opinion thus formed. It's again like the man trying to wriggle out of 'No, I'm not still beating my wife.' 'Oh, HO!!! Then you did beat her!'

"If the fight is professional, it generally has to do with the actor's contract with his management. Since the management generally controls the press releases of the engagement, it may choose to release 'leaks' that are biased and unfair to the actor. The matter under consideration may be a breach of contract by management, yet the inaccurate leaks will imply that the actor is temperamental. That happens more often than is generally supposed. Although all managements will firmly deny this, it has happened to many of my friends. It has happened to me."

"On the other hand, say the fight is personal. It is then the result of any number of petty annoyances by one member of the cast toward the others — a list of which, in the light of day, reads almost like musical comedy directions:

"(1) Garlic eaten in large quantities before a performance. (2) Lack of deodorant. (3) Moving, coughing, sneezing, catching flies on other players' lines. (4) Dropping 'feed' lines so low to spoil the other fellow's jokes. (5) Loud talking offstage during the performance. (6) Love-making offstage, continued from onstage in the mistaken belief by some that it is wanted and desired and/or necessary for the good of the show. And so on and on."

I wish I had more space for Miss Brown. However, before we leave, here she is on temperament: "Is it such an opprobative (I've just coined this word)? It's the life and the blood of a performance. An actress without temperament is an actress devoid of fire and individuality."

For the record, Vanessa winds up by saying there is no feud between Tom and her, that she likes him and he likes her and that "who really cares that I, too, have gotten three big awards and countless lesser ones and that there were even further inaccuracies in the whole item? Not too many people. Therefore, the heck with refutations." And, in cheerful conclusion:

"Furthermore, I love being considered temperamental. It's so much better than being called meek!"

This will give one and all an inkling of why I say to one and all, go see Vanessa Brown in "The Seven-Year Itch." If you go to the stage door for her autograph later, the guy with the roses in hand and the devoted-dog look on his face is me.

Swiss Cheese Goes With Macaroni And Tuna Salad

When you're making up your shopping list, don't forget to add a couple of packages of macaroni and a couple of cans of tuna for summer meals that everyone will enjoy.

If you're an average homemaker with gardening, summer sports and other activities claiming your time, you'll want to spend a minimum amount of hours at your kitchen stove this summer. Always high on the list of favorite foods, macaroni and tuna make it a cinch to prepare nutritious meals quickly and economically.

In this refreshing salad, cooked macaroni and tuna are tossed with shredded spinach and carrots, sliced radishes and onions and Swiss cheese cleverly sandwiched together with mustard for extra flavor.

Tuna Macaroni Swiss Salad

(Makes 6 servings)

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces elbow macaroni (2 cups)
2 slices processed Swiss cheese
Prepared mustard
2 cups shredded spinach
½ cup sliced radishes
2 small onions, thinly sliced
1 cup shredded carrots
2 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna, drained
French dressing

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water and drain again. Chill.

Spread one slice of Swiss cheese liberally with mustard. Top with remaining slice of cheese sandwich-fashion. Cut cheese into ½-inch squares. In a large bowl, combine chilled macaroni, spinach, radishes, onion slices and shredded carrots. Break tuna into large pieces with fork. Add tuna and cheese squares to salad. Toss lightly but thoroughly. Chill. Just before serving, add enough French dressing to moisten. Toss lightly but thoroughly and serve.

Cut jelly roll into 10 slices. Scoop ice cream onto 5 serving plates. Place a slice of jelly roll on each side of the ice cream. Top with raspberries and serve. Makes 5 Jelly Roll Sundaes.

*Frozen or sweetened fresh fruit may be used.

For Summer—Hot Or Cold Salmon Steaks

Coming soon—the lazy days of summer when recipes for main dishes which can be served hot one day and cold the next are especially welcome. The food must be attractive, too—mustn't have a dehydrated look after a night in the refrigerator, or have changed to an unappetizing color. Salmon steaks are one of the best foods for serving this way; they are beautiful in color, good hot, and so popular when chilled that many restaurants feature them as one of their prize menu items for summer. If you're planning to prepare enough salmon to serve hot one day and cold the next, the National Fisheries Institute suggests poaching the steaks.

Poached Salmon Steaks*

Place fish steaks on a heatproof plate or pie pan. Place plate or pan on a large square of cheesecloth. Bring corners of cheesecloth up over plate and tie securely. Put about a half inch of water in the bottom of a large frying pan or kettle (one big enough to hold plate or pie pan). Add ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon pickling spices to water. Bring water to a boil, then turn down heat so that water simmers. Place plate of fish steaks in simmering water. Cover and let simmer 10 minutes. Remove steaks and drain. Serve hot, garnished with big onion slices, curls of green pepper and chili sauce limes or lemons. To prepare limes or lemons: Slice each in half, then scoop out a section of each half. Fill scooped out part with chili sauce.

Wrap the leftover steaks in aluminum foil or waxed paper to store in refrigerator. Serve cold the next day with mayonnaise and lemon wedges.

SCHOOL'S OUT

Won't be long now till that front door will be kept swinging all day long. Yes, the youngsters soon will have their freedom from school. But while they enjoy their long and carefree vacation, mothers have extra responsibility in providing adequate meals to keep their energy abounding. One meal in particular that children — and adults, too—are likely to skip, is the first meal of the day. Give this important meal added interest so good mornings will come easier.

Pineapple Muffins are a grand accompaniment to serve with luncheon fruit salads. When you use packaged plain or cornmeal muffin mix, make batter as usual, then add ½ cup of drained, crushed pineapple and bake. Serve these hot.

TWO WAYS NIP SQUEEZE

AMONG fairly advanced players, who have studied squeeze plays and defense against them, there is one rather well understood way to break up a double squeeze. This method is by leading the suit which would furnish entry from one of the declarer's holdings into the other after the squeezing trick; if communication is broken in that suit, the squeeze collapses. There is still another method which sometimes can be employed. That consists of dividing the work between the two partners, with one concentrating entirely upon defending against the extra card in the entry suit and the other partner keeping his defense against the two side suits.

Learning via the Blackwood that his side had all aces and kings, plus that titanic spade suit, it seemed to South that thirteen tricks must be readily makeable. Indeed it did at both tables of a team game, so both Souths bid the No Trump grand slam. After seeing the same heart Q lead, they could count up only twelve tricks, and saw no play for the thirteenth except a double squeeze. The parallel went farther when they built the identical format.

Disposing first of two tricks each in hearts and clubs, the diamond K and four in spades, each retained the spade 9-7, diamond 10 and club 10, keeping in dummy the heart 9, diamond A-7 and club 8. Then the spade 9 was led. At one table West discarded the club Q, then dummy the club 8 and East the club 6. On the final spade then West had to keep his heart Q, so threw the 8 from the diamond Q-8. The heart went on from dummy, and East was now helpless, as you will note. At the other table, West on the next to last spade tossed a diamond. So he was able to guard against both the heart and the club, East against only diamonds. That did it.

No Limit To Variety Possible With Tuna

Almost everyone has a good recipe for tomato aspic and we're sure you have your favorite, too, but have you ever tried adding cooked noodles and tuna to bring a special touch to its shimmering goodness?

Or if a hot dish is in order, how about spaghetti topped with a flavorful tuna sauce? Surprise ingredient in the sauce is buttermilk which gives it a rich creaminess.

Tuna Tomato Noodle Aspic

(Makes 6-8 Servings)

- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
- 2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
- ⅓ cup cold water
- 3¾ cups tomato juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 4 stalks celery, cut up
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 6½-ounce cans chunk-style tuna
- 2 cups buttermilk
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 2 3-ounce cans sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- 2 firm ripe tomatoes, peeled

Salt to taste

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water and drain again. Chill.

Soften gelatin in cold water. In a saucepan, combine 2 cups tomato juice, 1 teaspoon salt, sugar, lemon juice, onion, celery and garlic. Bring to a boil and boil 30 minutes; strain. Add softened gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add remaining 1¾ cups tomato juice and Worcestershire sauce; mix well. Chill until slightly thickened. Drain tuna and reserve oil to grease 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. When gelatin mixture begins to thicken, fold in drained tuna and chilled noodles. Turn into oiled loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold and slice to serve.

Savory Tuna On Spaghetti

(Makes 4-6 Servings)

- 2 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna
- ⅓ cup all-purpose flour
- 2 cups buttermilk
- ¼ cup minced onion
- 2 3-ounce cans sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- 2 firm ripe tomatoes, peeled

Salt to taste

- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 8 ounces spaghetti

Drain tuna and reserve ¼ cup oil. In a saucepan, heat tuna oil; add flour and blend. Gradually add buttermilk and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add onion, mushrooms, chives, parsley and paprika; mix well. Cut tomatoes into eighths and break tuna into large pieces with a fork. Add tomatoes and tuna to sauce. Season to taste with salt. Cook over low heat 10 minutes, stirring constantly.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve sauce over hot spaghetti.

Individual Alaskas

4 egg whites; ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract; ¼ cup sifted confectioners' sugar; 1 pint ice cream; 6 individual sponge cake shells.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Add vanilla extract. Add confectioners' sugar gradually. Continue beating until meringue stands in peaks. Divide ice cream into 6 portions and place a portion in the center of each sponge cake shell. Cover cake and ice cream closely with meringue. Place on a cookie sheet and brown quickly in a hot oven (450°F.) for about 5 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 6 individual Alaskas. (Alaskas may be made oven-ready in advance. Keep frozen for 2 weeks in freezer or for 2 days in refrigerator freezing compartment.)

The right salad dressing often makes the difference between a salad that's good and one that's superb: With fruit salad, try a combination of cream cheese, thinned with a little pineapple juice and whipped.

EASY does it—especially with breakfast. When a buffet service such as this is used, even the cook can enjoy the meal with her family.

The planning is easy too, when you make use of a meal pattern. An outline that is widely recommended for its simplicity, its important nutrients, and its preparation is the one based on five foods—fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter.

Today's Menu

Take, for instance, today's breakfast that's in tune for the lazy appetites of warm weather. The oven-popped rice cereal and bran flakes fill the serving dishes of the rack. This way the breakfasters may select their cereal, top it with milk and some chilled fresh fruit, and proceed to eat a refreshing morning meal.

For the eye-opener, a pineapple half, split vertically, is hollowed out, then filled with diced pineapple, red raspberries, and strawberries. Hot biscuits and butter complete this meal built from the basic outline.

Pattern Is Versatile

Breakfasts may be planned for the year 'round with these same five basic foods. In the warm months of summer, fresh fruits, cereal, and milk are combined. In the colder season, canned, frozen, or dried fruits and cereals team up with milk for other three-in-one breakfast dishes.

No matter what the season, though, make certain you serve an adequate morning meal, one that gives ¼ to ½ of the day's food needs. Then your family can help themselves to good health as well as to a good breakfast.

Chocolate Baked Alaska

4 egg whites; 6 teaspoons sugar; ½ teaspoon vanilla extract; 1 gold cake layer; 1 quart chocolate ice cream.

Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Blend in sugar and vanilla extract. Continue beating until meringue stands in peaks. Place cake layer on a cookie sheet. Pile ice cream on cake, leaving ½ inch rim uncovered. Cover ice cream and cake closely with meringue. Place the Alaska on a thick wooden board or cookie sheet. Brown quickly in a hot oven (450°F.) for approximately 5 minutes. Cut Alaska immediately. Serves 6 to 8.

Sunday is so named because it was dedicated to the worship of the sun by ancient peoples.

For an interesting and flavorful addition to a refreshment tray, serve pineapple chunks-on-picks in a bed of mint or parsley, with a bowl of yellow cheese and a bowl of coconut alongside for dunking. Light and good for evening refreshments, with sandwiches and coffee.

Pre-Packaged Peach In Ice Cream Roll

One of the most wonderful of all ice cream and cake combinations is the ice cream roll. It looks like a jelly roll and tastes even better. The ice cream special in summer is peach, and its' hard to think of a better way to serve it than in a delectable Peach Ice Cream Roll.

The cake is baked in a shallow pan so that it will be thin enough to roll. The ice cream comes pre-packaged in block-shaped cartons, making it perfect to cut into half-inch slices to cover the rectangular cake roll. It's so simple to do, yet looks so impressive to the family and friends. Try it next time you want a fancy dessert.

Featured Flavor

Peach ice cream is the featured flavor during July and August, coinciding with fresh peach season. During these two months you'll find lots of peach ice cream for sale in convenient pre-packaged pints and half-gallons. Ice cream is one of the most nutritious and economical desserts you can serve, and pre-packaged peach is one of the most delicious flavors. It gets its goodness from the luscious peaches which are a main ingredient. As a matter of fact, the peaches in pre-packaged peach ice cream make up nearly half of the recipe.

Peach Ice Cream Roll

4 eggs
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup sifted cake flour
2 pints pre-packaged peach ice cream

Have eggs at room temperature for greater volume. Grease bottom of a 15x10x1-inch pan; line with waxed paper and grease lightly. Beat eggs with rotary beater until foamy. Add baking powder and salt; beat until very light. Add sugar, about 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating until very thick. Fold in vanilla and sifted flour. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 13 minutes. While cake is baking, sift confectioners' sugar lightly over towel or brown paper. Loosen cake from pan with point of paring knife. Invert onto towel or brown paper. Remove pan; quickly remove waxed paper. With both hands roll up cake from narrow side. In rolling, first fold all the way across roll; continue rolling by lifting towel or brown paper with left hand and guide roll with right hand. Wrap towel or brown paper tightly around roll to hold it in shape. Cool on cake rack. To fill with ice cream, unroll cake carefully. Open ice cream carton and cut into slices approximately ½ inch thick, or enough to cover roll. Re-roll. To serve, cut in slices. If desired, serve with Raspberry sauce. YIELD: 10 to 12 servings.

They're such a familiar sight at the beach, circus, fairs, ball games, picnics, and so many other good-time places . . . it just seems that a good time and frankfurters go hand in hand.

Whether you have your picnic outdoors or right in your own kitchen, you'll make a real hit by serving Cheese-Stuffed Red Hots. Here's our suggestion for a red-hot picnic menu—custom built for big appetites and little work. This he-man meal is easy on that all-important food budget, too.

Creamy Baked Turkey

It's love at first bite! That's what you'll discover the moment you taste tender, juicy fried turkey baked in cream. Yes, everyone likes fried turkey. Its popularity is comparatively new, for turkeys suitable for frying are a new development in the poultry industry.

We're speaking of the small Junior turkeys . . . a new strain which always remains small. The result of scientific breeding, these birds are all white feathered, which means no dark pinfeathers, broad-breasted with the same generous proportion of light and dark meat you'd find in the regular large turkeys. Those small wonder birds range in weight from as small as four pounds up to about ten pounds when dressed and ready for marketing.

Because of their small size, Junior turkeys are ideal for today's smaller families. Their size also makes it possible to serve turkey in countless ways never before possible with the larger birds.

We like to cut up the turkey, and brown it slowly to give it an even and thorough coating. Then we place it in a casserole or baking pan and add a delightful sour cream-mushroom mixture before finishing the turkey in the oven.

It will take only one taste to prove to your family that you've discovered a new treat in turkey eating pleasure.

BAKED TURKEY WITH SOUR CREAM AND MUSHROOMS

Select a 4 to 6 pound Junior turkey, disjoint and cut up. Coat turkey with 1 cup flour mixed with 2 teaspoons salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Brown slowly in a mixture of 6 tablespoons each of butter and lard. Arrange in baking pan or casserole and cover with a mixture of 1 cup sour cream, 1 cup water or liquid from mushrooms, and 1 cup mushrooms. Cover and bake in 325° F. oven for approximately 1½ hours or until tender.

Glamorize Meat Course

Glamorize the meat course of a meal with delicious Cinnamon Pineapple Slices for a real treat. They are prepared in two stages but well worth your effort. Serve them either hot or cold, as you prefer, with chicken, turkey, pork or ham.

Cinnamon Pineapple Slices

10 slices pineapple (No. 2 can)
1 cup syrup drained from pineapple
⅔ cup of sugar
2 tablespoons red cinnamon candies
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Drain pineapple slices and combine the syrup with sugar and cinnamon candies in saucepan. Heat mixture and stir until candies are dissolved. Then, bring to boil and cook for 5 minutes or until syrup thickens. Stir in lemon juice.

Place pineapple slices in an uncovered, flat baking dish and pour the cinnamon mixture over them. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Serve hot or cold.

To cut canned pineapple when the recipe calls for half slices or smaller sections, drain off the syrup, then insert a knife in the center and cut slices easily in the can.

For Cool Summer Dessert Serve Tasty Peach Alaska

Ice cream and cake at its very most elegant comes in a Baked Alaska. An Alaska is considered complicated because it requires that the ice cream go into the oven and not melt during the time the meringue which covers it is browning. Actually, this dessert is not nearly as difficult as it appears. The important things are to put the cake on a baking sheet, chill both cake and sheet in the refrigerator before making the Alaska, add ice cream and meringue at the last minute. Whisk tne Alaska into a pre-heated oven and leave it there just long enough for the meringue to brown. Just follow directions and you'll have as fancy an Alaska as can be made, and a dessert to delight all who eat it.

In summer Peach Alaska is an especially good one to serve. Peach ice cream is available everywhere during the fresh peach season of July and August. This year it has been named the Ice Cream Festival flavor for those two months and will be conveniently pre-packaged in pints or half gallons for your enjoyment. A party-sized Peach Alaska uses two pre-packaged pints, easy to buy at self-service cabinets in drug stores and super markets.

Peach Alaska

½ cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted cake flour; 6 tablespoons sugar; 1 teaspoon double acting baking powder; ¼ teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons salad oil; 2 egg yolks; 3 tablespoons water; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 egg whites; ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar.

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl. Make a "well" in the middle and add salad oil, egg yolks, water and vanilla. Beat until smooth. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until very stiff, do not underbeat. Fold in egg yolk mixture until blended. Turn into a waxed paper lined 8x8x2-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 25 minutes. Turn upside down on rack to cool; remove from pan. Place on cookie sheet and chill in refrigerator at least an hour before making Alaska.

Meringue

⅛ teaspoon salt; 4 egg whites; 1 teaspoon vanilla; ½ cup sugar; 2 pints pre-packaged peach ice cream.

Pre-heat oven to 550°F. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff; add vanilla. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until very stiff. Reserve. Remove cake from refrigerator. Cut each pint of ice cream cross-wise into 3 thick slices. Place on cake about ¼-inch from sides. Pile meringue on top of ice cream and sides of cake. Place in pre-heated oven and bake for 1 minute or lightly browned. Remove immediately with 2 wide spatulas to platter. Yield: 9 to 12 servings.

Tempting Tropical Cooler

Tempting, cooling drinks are a natural part of the hot weather picture. A tall refresher is the first thing the hostess thinks of when a neighbor drops in for a chat or when invited guests arrive. It's the perfect aid to relaxation when you sit down for a restful hour after household tasks or a round of sports.

To meet the demands and suit every taste, it is well to have a variety of bottled drinks cooled in the refrigerator. Ginger ale and carbonated water, refreshing by themselves and blending well with fruit juices for drinks to please the individual taste should be on hand.

For those who like a dry drink with a slightly bitter taste, haunting and pleasant, you might include quinine water. There is something especially cooling about a glass of well-iced quinine water, and that is not surprising for the drink originated in the tropics where intense heat necessitates a beverage that really cools the blood. It is fast becoming a popular summer cooler in our country.

QUINAC COOLER

Place three or four ice cubes in a tall glass and fill the glass with quinine water. Add a teaspoon of lemon or lime juice and garnish with a slice of the fruit.

Here is a refresher made with fresh pineapple.

FRESH PINEAPPLE-LIME

¼ cup lime juice
½ cup sugar syrup
½ cup freshly grated pineapple
Ginger ale

Combine lime juice, sugar syrup and pineapple. Divide among 4 tall glasses. Add ice cubes and fill glasses with pale dry ginger ale.

Macaroon Strawberry Whip

1 egg white; 2 tablespoons sugar; 1 cup sliced strawberries; ½ cup heavy cream, whipped; 3 cups crumbled coconut macaroons.

Beat egg white until stiff and blend in sugar. Fold in strawberries. Fold in whipped cream and macaroons. Pour mixture into refrigerator tray. Chill for 3 hours. Serves 8.

Canned Shrimp Simplifies Summer Meal Planning

A can of rosy shrimp is a welcome sight to anyone who has to prepare a meal in a hurry. Most everyone likes this tiny shellfish—it's America's favorite, in fact—and it can be adapted to almost any style of food preparation. Combined with celery, chopped pickles, diced hard-cooked eggs, and mayonnaise, and mounded in a lettuce cup, shrimp makes a colorful and tempting salad. Cut up small pieces, shrimp can be added to mushroom soup for a delicious first course. The flavor is so delicious that shrimp make extra-special main dishes.

Shrimp in Baking Shells

1 5-ounce can shrimp; 1 green pepper, chopped; 1 cup chopped celery; 2 tablespoons chopped onions. ¾ cup mayonnaise; 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce; ½ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper. Bread Crumbs.

Drain shrimp. Devein if desired. Cut shrimp in small pieces. Saute green pepper, celery, and onions in mayonnaise about 10 minutes or until vegetables are slightly tender. Remove from heat. Add Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Add shrimp to mixture. Place in small baking shells. Top with Bake at 350°F. (moderate oven) about 15 minutes. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Shrimp Wiggle

1 5-ounce can shrimp; 4 tablespoons butter; 4 tablespoons flour; 2 cups milk; 1 teaspoon salt; Pepper. 1 cup cooked peas.

Drain shrimp. Devein if desired. Melt butter in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Stir in flour until blended. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Return pan to heat and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt, pepper, shrimp and peas. Continue cooking until shrimp and peas are heated through. Serve on toast or crackers. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Rattlesnakes shed their fangs at least twice a year.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If milk or foods containing milk are spilled on a lacquered or varnished surface, wipe it up immediately; as, if allowed to remain on, its effect will be that of a mild paint remover.

How To Make a Sardine Bowl

What makes a popular summer salad? The greens must be crisp and fresh, the dressing masterfully made, the main ingredients well chilled, and the finished salad attractive, and appealing to the appetite. As so many summer cooks have found out, an attractive and substantial salad makes an especially satisfying main dish for luncheon or supper. And in this regard, "substantial" means that a protein food should be among the ingredients, as in this Sardine Salad combination from the National Fisheries Institute—truly a summer meal in a bowl.

SARDINE SALAD BOWL

Romaine or other salad greens
2 3½ ounce cans sardines
2 hard cooked eggs, sliced
4 sticks sharp cheese
Russian dressing
Shredded wheat wafers

Cut up enough salad greens to fill bottom of salad bowls. Arrange sardines, sliced eggs and cheese sticks on greens. Garnish with crisp greens. Serve with Russian dressing and shredded wheat wafers.

Nonmagnetic minesweepers built entirely of wood now are important units in the United States Navy.

Celanese Notes Chemical Output

Six months ahead of schedule the Chemical Division of Celanese Corporation of America this week began shipping vinyl acetate in tank car quantities from the Pampa, Tex. plant.

Just six months ago the vinyl acetate unit was merely in the blueprint stage, according to John Frick, manager of the recently completed petrochemical plant in Pampa. Today it is capable of producing in excess of 30,000,000 pounds annually, and is designed to permit a rapid increase in production as market conditions demand.

The Pampa process for making vinyl acetate is new and was perfected at the Chemical Division research laboratories at Clarkwood, Texas. Production methods do not call for the use of the customary acetylene. Celanese becomes the second major supplier of the vinyl acetate monomer, since one of the other two producers does not sell its product in the open market.

Among the growing new developments for vinyl acetate are water-based paints, soil conditioners and synthetic textile fibers. Vinyl acetate can be converted into many other chemicals which are important in their own right. Chief among these are polyvinyl acetate, alcohol, formal and butyral and the copolymers with vinyl chloride.

Judge Affirms

then observes that the Alcoholic Beverage Laws of Maryland specifically states that in Allegany County the Board of License Commissioners shall be the judge of whether such an establishment operated in good faith within the meaning of this sub-section.

Judge Harris further quotes from the statute:

"Upon appeal, the burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner to show that the decision was against the public interest and that the local board's discretion in rendering its decision was not honestly and fairly exercised, or that such decision was arbitrary, or procured by fraud, or unsupported by any substantial evidence, or was unreasonable, or that such decision was beyond the powers of the board and was illegal."

In conclusion, Judge Harris states:

"It is abundantly clear from the record that the board's decision was not dishonest, unfair, arbitrary, fraudulent, unreasonable, illegal, unsupported by substantial evidence or beyond the power of the board so to rule and, therefore, the decision of the board is hereby affirmed."

William R. Carscaden, attorney, brought the appeal for Club 88. The board was represented in the appeal by Attorneys Albert A. Doub and Harold E. Naughton.

Quartet Robs Bank Of Nearly $20,000

VAN BUREN, Ark., July 1 (AP)—Four men got away with nearly $20,000 from the Citizens Bank and Trust Co. today.

The bank's 73-year-old president, David T. Bryan, was beaten on the head with a pistol by one of the robbers when Bryan disregarded an order to open a vault and tried to summon aid. He was not injured seriously.

The robbers escaped in a car.

Later the Oklahoma Highway Patrol at Oklahoma City said the description of one robber answered that of J. E. Burke, who escaped from the Oklahoma prison at McAlester Monday.

Boston Red Sox Hand Yankees Ninth Straight Loss, 4-0

Parnell Posts Tenth Victory Over New York

Tosses Four-Hitter As Champs Hit Lowest Ebb Since 1945 Race

BOSTON, July 1 (AP)—The staggering New York Yankees lost their ninth straight game today, bowing to Mel Parnell's brilliant four-hit pitching as the Boston Red Sox hammered Johnny Sain for a 4-0 victory.

Slumping ever closer to the clubs they trampled during their recent 18-game winning streak, the Yankees hit their lowest ebb since 1945 when they also dropped nine in a row under Manager Joe McCarthy.

The all-time Yankee record of 13 straight defeats in 1913 was within reach as the proud world champs, seeking their fifth successive pennant, roll backward like a runaway locomotive.

Parnell was the complete master of the once-bristling Yankee batting order as he hurled his tenth victory. The best they could manage was four singles, never more than one in the same inning.

It was the second time the Yanks had been shut out in their last four games, not counting an exhibition game blanking by Brooklyn Monday night.

B'nai B'rith Wins Over Kiwanis, 6-1

A two-hit pitching performance by McCullough and McGann enabled B'nai B'rith to defeat the Kiwanis Club in a Hot Stove Baseball League game yesterday at Campobello by the score of 6-1.

McCullough hurled hitless and runless ball for six frames but was injured in the 7th and forced to retire when struck on the knee by a pitched ball. McGann finished on the mound for B'nai B'rith.

Bruce walloped a two-run homer for the winners in the 6th inning. The fielding highlight was Junior O'Neal's running catch of a drive to left field. Score:

DR. Garnett P. Morison, 68, who died in Charles Town, W. Va., the other day, was president of the Martinsburg Club of the Blue Ridge League in 1920 when Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove of Lonaconing signed his first contract in organized ball.

Frank Colley, veteran sports editor of the Hagerstown Herald, recalls that was the year a windstorm blew down the fence that enclosed the Martinsburg ball park and Grove was sold to Manager Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles to raise enough money to purchase lumber for a new barrier.

A native of Martinsburg, Dr. Morison served as physician for the Charles Town Jockey Club from 1933 to 1950.

ANYTHING can happen in the National League.

Take for instance, the Dodgers. They left home in second place, lost eight of their first ten games on the road for one of their worst showings in years. Then they won four straight, including a three-game sweep in Milwaukee, and returned home in first place.

REMEMBER the story about the deer that came down Bedford Street from Shriver's Hill several years ago, entered a beauty parlor, leaped out a window and returned home via the same route it came to town?

Over in Butler County, Pa., several days ago the game protector received a phone call from the fire chief to remove a buck deer from the roof of a glass company's building.

ONE of Honus Wagner's favorite stories is about a dog who ran out on the playing field and grabbed a ball with his teeth as the great shortstop of yesteryear was about to field it.

"So I picked up the dog and threw it to the third baseman and the runner was out," Honus relates.

THEY'RE SAYING nice things about "Chazz" Imes, classy twirler of Tom Seifert's Tigers of the Dapper Dan League.

The lad owns a 3-0 record, has fanned 38 batsmen in three games and has yielded only two runs.

His pop is Charles "Chick" Imes, one of Cumberland's best basketball referees in bygone days.

ART ROONEY, Pittsburgh sportsman, named his race horses after several of his best friends. Havey B., which raced here, was named after the late Havey J. Boyle, Pittsburgh sports writer, and Big Kies, was named after Walter Kiesling, the grid mentor.

Pirates Sink Giants, 5-3

Hal Rice's Home Run Decides Game In 11th

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP) — Hal Rice's first home run of the year and a collapse of the New York infield enabled Pittsburgh to nip the Giants today, 5-3, in 11 innings.

Rice's blast into the lower right field stands off Reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm, making his 37th appearance in 69 games, came with the score tied. Two errors, an intentional walk and Pitcher Johnny Hetki's single added the extra run.

Chisox Crush Browns

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Minnie Minoso's two triples drove across five of 10 runs scored by the Chicago White Sox in two innings for a 13-4 crushing of the St. Louis Browns today.

Minoso's bases - loaded triple spiced a seven-run sixth which sewed up the third-place Chi-Sox' 15th decision in 18 games and moved them to within five-and-one-half games of the collapsing Yankees.

Ghezzi Equals Course Record In PGA Opener

New York Pro Posts 66; Hines, Browning Trail By Stroke

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., July 1 (AP)—Giant Vic Ghezzi fired a near-perfect, five-under-par 66, tying a 20-year-old course record, today to lead the first round qualifying in the Professional Golfers Association tournament.

The six-foot-two, 200-pound pro from Inwood, N. Y., 1941 champion, missed only one fairway — the 18th — as he whipped around the tight, par 36-35—71 Birmingham Country Club in 34-32.

The course record was set by Al Watrous two decades ago.

Ghezzi's sparkling round snatched a few brief moments of glory from two rank outsiders — graying, 48-year-old Jimmy Hines of Glenview, Ill., and chubby Jim Browning of Weston, Mass., who posted 67's within ten minutes of each other in the mid-afternoon.

Then followed, tied at 68, two sharp - shooting Southerners — Chandler Harper, home professional from Portsmouth, Va., and Johnny Palmer, a tourist from Badin, North Carolina.

These first day leaders played in semi-privacy while a crowd estimated at 5,000 dogged the heels of favorites Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff and the Defending Champion Jim Turnesa.

Snead, a three-time winner, missed an easy two and a half foot putt on the final green to wind up with 69, tied with a pair of veteran campaigners, Pete Cooper and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, and little Felice Torza of Lake Charles, Ill., playing in his first PGA.

The phlegmatic Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., although exempt from qualifying, took his swings like the rest and came in with a smart 70, which bracketed him with nearly a dozen others. Middlecoff, the Memphis dentist, had an even par 71.

The 41-year-old Ghezzi, son of immigrant Italians, didn't once go over par and putted for birdies on most of the holes.

Staley Tames Cubs

ST. LOUIS, July 1 (AP) — Gerry Staley proved to be the stopper tonight for the St. Louis Cardinals, breaking a three - game losing streak for the Redbirds as he scored his fifth consecutive victory and 12th of the year over the Chicago Cubs, 10-5.

The Cardinals, marking time in third place 2½ games out, supported Staley with an 11-hit attack that included two triples and a single by Stan Musial, a double and two singles by Red Schoendienst and homers by Steve Bilko and Del Rice.

McKeldin Names Chewning To State Race Commission

Will Serve Until 1955 As Small's Successor

ANNAPOLIS, July 1 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today named E. Taylor Chewning, Anne Arundel County farmer and businessman, to fill the unexpired term of Rep. Small (D-Md.) on the Maryland Racing Commission.

This ended one of the longest vacancies every on the board.

Chewning, a Democrat, lives on his Tacoro farm, a 406-acre tract on Chesapeake Bay at the south tip of the county.

He is president of the United Clay and Supply Corp. of Baltimore, the United Clay Products Co., of Washington and West Virginia and the United Brick Corp. and Continental Clay Products Co.

He is director and a member of the executive committee of Riggs National Bank in Washington.

The unexpired term he fills will end in 1955.

McKeldin has still to name someone to the vacancy left on the board made when H. Courtney Jenifer's six-year term expired today.

Small, now a U. S. Congressman, became chairman of the board when Jenifer resigned the post shortly after McKeldin was elected. Small resigned at the beginning of the year to go to Congress.

This means that the Democrat will serve only a short term. The governor now can name a Republican to a full six-year term. The law requires that one from the minority party be on the three-man board.

By waiting until today for the second vacancy, McKeldin made way for the move.

Underdonk, Gaffney Seek 10th Wins As Elks Face Amvets

Bill Underdonk and Jim Gaffney will be striving to become the first 10-game winner of the season in the Rocking Chair Softball League when they oppose each other as the B.P.O. Elks tangle with the Amvets today at 6 o'clock at Stitcher Field.

Underdonk owns a 9-4 record to date while Gaffney has won nine and lost three.

The Amvets have lost only three games in 15 starts and two of those setbacks were dealt out by Underdonk who decisioned Gaffney by scores of 4-0 and 5-2.

The Eagles battle the Moose at East Side and the K. of C. opposes the Outdoor Club at Allegany Field in other games on tap for today.

Central Lunch Squares Series

Defeats Amvets, 5-3, On Lewis' Hit In 8th

Harrison Lewis came through with a timely single that drove in two runs in the eighth inning to give the Central Quick Lunch team of the County Softball League a 5-3 decision over the Amvets of the Rocking Chair League yesterday at Taylor Field.

The triumph enabled Central to even up the five-game inter-league series at one-all. The third contest will be played Sunday at 6 p.m. at Stitcher Field.

Gene Scaletta and Jim Gaffney hooked up in a 3-3 duel until the sixth when the former was replaced by Jack Mayo who got credit for the win when Lewis' blow broke the deadlock.

Bobby Goss headed the Central hitters with two safeties while Keyser, Whitman and Twigg rapped two-baggers. The Amvets outhit their opponents, 10-8, George Geatz paced the assault with a double and two singles. Lou Bell garnered a two-base hit and single and Boyle pounded a double for the losers. Score:

Mathews Clouts 23rd Homer In Braves' Victory

Milwaukee Beats Cincinnati, 10-2

CINCINNATI, July 1 (AP)—Eddie Mathews took over the National League home run leadership today as the slugging Milwaukee Braves pounded out a 10 to 2 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The young third baseman hit his 23rd four-bagger in the third inning to break a tie with Ted Kluszewski of the local club.

He also had a double and a single to drive in three runs. Mathews has hit three homers in the last two games.

Sid Gordon and Joe Adcock also homered for the Braves to make it easy for southpaw Warren Spahn to win his ninth game against three defeats this season.

DETROIT, July 1 (AP)—Little Ted Gray, posting his third straight victory, snapped the Cleveland Indians' six game winning streak today by holding the runner-up American League club to six hits and fanning nine as the last-place Detroit Tigers won 4-2.

But the Indians stayed five games from first place. The league leading New York Yankees, still in a slump, were shut out in Boston.

Seixas, Nielsen Play For Title

Defeat Rose, Drobny In Wimbledon Tests

WIMBLEDON, England, July 1 (AP)—Vic Seixas, Philadelphia strategist tabbed early as a Wimbledon finalist, and Kurt Nielsen, unseeded upstart from Copenhagen, battered semifinal opponents today to complete the cast for the 67th Wimbledon match on Friday.

The last Australian in the big tennis show, Mervyn Rose, tumbled before Seixas in a slugging match which lasted two hours and 40 minutes. The score was 6-4,10-12, 9-11, 1-4, 6-3.

Late in the afternoon, the Dane who insists tennis is only a game, tied into old Jaroslav Drobny, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

With Nielsen ahead 5-3 in the second set the overcast sky gave way to a downpour and for 30 minutes the center court was deserted. After the resumption it took only 18 minutes for Nielsen to oust Drobny.

Seixas was second seeded, Rose third and Drobny fourth. Nielsen wasn't even in sight—at least not with Wimbledon's official raters. But the Dane raided the seeded ranks—first defeating fifth seeded Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., then first seeded Ken Rosewall, of Australia, and Drobny.

Here's a bit of good news for the man who runs his car on Esso Extra!
When a man buys "premium" grade gasoline, it's a safe bet he does so from a desire to realize the most he can from his investment in his car. But it isn't easy for the ordinary person to make a really expert selection of his brand of gasoline!
Your engine can tell one from another in several important ways. But for you it's a little harder! You can tell which knocks and which doesn't. You can tell which seems to give a good feeling of power. But you never actually see your gasoline at work, and many of the differences only show in your engine over a period of time.
So we're happy to tell those loyal friends who make it a regular habit to drop in on our Esso Dealers, and to pin their faith to the Esso Extra pump, that they couldn't be more right if they had all the petroleum knowledge in the world!
Regardless of hopeful opinions you may hear to the contrary...we've got brass-tacks proof that today's Esso Extra meets the highest standard of all-round, year-round performance quality.
And here's just how we know this...
First, we take eight performance qualities which automotive engineers agree are important and capable of measurement in a gasoline:
1. Sheer Power; 2. High Anti-Knock; 3. Long Mileage; 4. Clean Engine Operation; 5. Quick Starting; 6. Fast Warm-Up; 7. Hot Weather Anti-Vapor-Lock; 8. Cool Weather Anti-Stalling.
Then, we carefully test Esso Extra for these qualities against all gasolines that compete with it. And the pay-off is that, time and again in these tests, Esso Extra meets the highest standard of overall, year-round performance quality to be found!
Add to this the fact that Esso Extra is the largest-selling premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers...and this should be cheering news to Esso Extra fans...and cause for sober thought to others!
So...thanks for your business, and thanks for your attention, and have a "Happy Motoring" summer, with the knowledge that you just can not find a better grade of gasoline year-round than Esso Extra for the modern horsepower in your faithful engine!
Esso Extra meets today's highest standard of year-round gasoline performance!
ESSO STANDARD OIL COMPANY
ESSO ROAD MAPS make travel easy and interesting. They're big, readable, accurate, up-to-date. And if you're planning a trip, ask your Esso Dealer about Esso Touring Service. He'll have your trip map-routed for your "Happy Motoring."

Strauss Leads South Branch Loop Hitters

Lester Is Runner-Up; Pope Has Fanned 73

PETERSBURG, W. Va., June 30 —As the six teams in the South Branch Valley Baseball League reach the Midway mark, the official statistics as compiled by Glem Clower, league secretary, reveal that 17 players are hitting the horsehide above the cherished .300 mark.

Topping the stickers as the teams swing into the last half of the schedule is Ed Strauss of Romney with a .482 mark. Big Ed has hit safely 14 times in 29 official trips to the plate. Included among his hit collection are three doubles, two triples and one home run. He has batted in ten runs for the third place Rockets.

Roy Lester, also of Romney, holds the runner-up spot with .413 and is followed by Warden Hott, Moorefield manager with 406. Day Lantz, Lost City pitcher, 394 and Bobby Myers, Moorefield, with .385.

Tom Frye, Romney southpaw, owns a 3-0 record to pace the league pitchers. The strikeout king for the first half is Franklin's Bob Pope who has whiffed 73 batters while posting a 6-3 record. The averages:

The name of J. Suter Kegg, sports editor of the Times, crashed the racing news in the Baltimore Evening Sun on the final day of the recent meet at Fairgo.

His name appeared among the scratches in the 8th race along with Ballawood, Moon Dots, Pharasan and Four West.

And here's how it happened. Kegg wired the scratches to Baltimore and signed his name which was picked up and appeared in type as one of the scratched horses.

THE following letter was received recently from Norman Gregg, editor of publications, American Road Builders' Association, Washington, D. C.:

"In your 'As You Were' column of sports personalities for April 16 you present an interesting sketch of Archibald C. Willison, who was president of the League of American Wheelmen in 1895.

It may interest you to know that this Association, organized in 1902, was formed, not by motorists or road builders, as is popularly believed, but by a group of bicycle manufacturers and men prominent in the L.A.W. This close tie-in with the famous cycling organization made your article of great interest to us.

"We should like very much to secure a copy of the April 16th issue containing this biographical sketch of Mr. Willison and also your permission to reprint the article whole or part. Credit will be given the Cumberland News for any use made of the feature."

PROMOTING sporting events nowadays is a risky proposition.

For instance, the Johnstown (Pa.) War Memorial, where hockey, boxing, wrestling, etc., are presented, showed a cash operating deficit of $29,000 last year.

Despite a winning season, ice hockey alone showed a loss of $2,800.

JOHNNY MAHER, former St. Louis Browns' scout, who signed Johnny Waltman of Ellerslie to his first contract in organized ball, is now general manager of the Lincoln (Neb.) Club of the Western League. At one time he was business manager of the Pittsburgh Steelers grid team.

When he scouted for the Browns he and his wife raised fighting cocks on their farm near Tyler, Texas.

NEW YORK, July 1 (INS) — Ever try to recall the most exciting sports event you ever saw ?

It's not easy as we discovered when the question was put to us during a birthday celebration yesterday.

It seemed we could vision again thousands of great athletes and great events we'd seen in the last 40 years or more.

We could vision in our mind's eye old Pete Alexander roaming in from the bull-pen to fan Tony Lazzeri with the bases loaded in a world series.

We could see Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson and Lefty Grove in many a tough spot. We could see Carl Hubbell fanning in succession Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx, Al Simmons and Joe Cronin in an All-Star game.

We could see Ty Cobb stealing home and Max Carey stealing many times and Babe Ruth again hitting all of the 60 homers he got in 1927, including one homer to end all homers in Detroit.

We could see Rajah Hornsby, then with the Giants, hitting a line drive to the flagpole in dead center in the old Braves Field in Boston. And Gink Hendrick hitting the hardest ball we ever saw struck, a line drive off Carl Mays into the upper deck alongside the Giants' club house.

We can see Tony Canzoneri flattening Jimmy McLarnin and Jack Dempsey crawling back into the ring to slaughter Luis Firpo and Harry Greb handing Mickey Walker an unmerciful beating. And Max Baer dumping Primo Carnera so often we were afraid The Preem would get callouses on his hips.

We can envisage Bill Tilden in many a brilliant match and the Australian Jack Crawford, the master tennis stylist of all time, winning with nonchalant ease.

We can see Ching Johnson and his bald head tearing down the ice with a puck on the end of his stick and hoisting rival defense men over the boards into the laps of spectators.

And it's no trouble to recall Jesse Owen picking up tremendous speed in a hundred yard dash or the smooth rhythm of Bill Carr's stride in a quarter mile race. We used to think Bill could run a quarter with a glass of water on his head and not spill a drop, so smooth was his stride.

Our mind's eye has no trouble recalling Marty Brill of Notre Dame running wild against Penn or the smooth precision of the Four Horsemen of the same school. And Bronk Nagurski running his own interference against any and all opposition.

We can recall many crews sinking in the college regatta at Poughkeepsie and the beauty of Willie Hoppe at a billiard table.

Memories? As Jimmy Durante says, we got a million of them. And cherish all for memory is but today's recollection of yesterday.

Bob Satterfield Flattens Baker

Pittsburgher Knocked Out In Opening Round

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP) — Light Heavyweight Bob Satterfield unleashed a brutal right to the chin which blasted out fourth-ranking heavyweight Bob Baker in 2:32 of the first round of their scheduled 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Outweighed by 33½ pounds, the 180½ pound Satterfield dealt a crushing blow to Baker's bright hopes for a shot at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight title in a surprising upset of the ponderous Pittsburgh scrapper.

Satterfield, Chicago in-and-outer, won by out-gaming the 214-pound Baker, who carried a blistering attack from the opening bell but made the fatal mistake of exposing his chin in a wild flurry.

Brooklyn Defeats Roberts In 10th

BROOKLYN, July 1 (AP) — Pinch hitters Roy Campanella and George Shuba slammed run-scoring doubles in the 10th inning to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies tonight and pin the season's sixth defeat upon the redoubtable Robin Roberts. The triumph enabled the first place Dodgers to retain their half-game lead over the Milwaukee Braves.

Roberts, seeking his 13th victory, retired Gil Hodges, the first batter he faced in the 10th but never got another man out. Carl Furillo doubled to the exit gate for his third hit and crossed the plate with the tying run on Campanella's double to left center. Al Walker was purposely passed before Shuba, batting for Podres, smashed his game-winning hit off the scoreboard in right field.

The win gave the Lions a 4-4 record while the loss was the sixth against two wins for Exchange.

Washington Blasts Philadelphia, 5-3

PHILADELPHIA, July 1 (AP) — The Washington Senators brought their long-range artillery into play tonight as they defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-3, blasting out 11 hits—including a pair of doubles, two triples and homers by Wayne Terwilliger and Ed Fitz Gerald.

Terwilliger hit his homer with none on base in the fifth—his third round tripper of the season. Fitz Gerald's, also with no one on the bags, came in the ninth and was his first of the year.

The win went to Chuck Stobbs, his third and all of them have been at the expense of the Athletics. Stobbs hadn't won since last May 10.

Announcement was made last night that the meeting of the leaders, scheduled for Friday at East Side, has been postponed.

Doris Adams of the Maids struck out 13 Bake's batters as East Side gathered 17 safeties. Adams, Helen Winebrenner and Connie Barkley had three hits each while Annabelle Leatherman homered and singled for the Maids. Elissa Frazier had three of the losers' six hits.

Rosalie Bowers paced the Central attack with a homer and two singles, Clara Kreigline had a round-tripper and single and Eileen Hite hit safely twice. Scores:

Mrs. Maurice Glick, State's Top Golfer, Enters CCC Tourney

Mrs. Maurice Glick, Baltimore, recognized as Maryland's top woman golfer, has advised the Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club that she will compete in the local club's third annual invitation tournament to be held at the CCC on Thursday, July 9.

Last Friday, Mrs. Glick of Woodholme, retained her Baltimore city title by defeating Mrs. C. E. Richards of the Country Club of Maryland in the finals at the Suburban Club, 5 and 4.

In winning the tournament for the seventh time in the last eight years, Mrs. Glick was never extended beyond the 14th hole, believed to be a record for women's golf in the Baltimore area.

AN UMPIRE in both the major leagues since 1947, Douglas W. (Scotty) Robb has retired to devote full time to his printing business at Cedar Grove, N. J., where he is seen. (International)

STAG LINES for men

Clip-On Tie

FASHION: In these hot days when you feel like opening your shirt collar at every opportunity, no tie is more practical than the clip-on bow. This summer, no bow is smarter than the long and narrow model worn by TV personality Nelson Case (at left). To be sure you know the right way to wear a clip-on, take a look at the "Tie Tip" paragraph below.

Beach Hints: Just to be on the safe side, stash away a couple of plaster bandages in the pocket of your swim trunks, in case you cut your foot. . . . A practical beach gadget is a small plastic vegetable bag. It will keep cigarettes, matches, money, etc., clean and dry.

Good Idea: Cuff links have never been more popular and some of the most handsome are being made from old buttons. Look around your house, or antique shops in your neighborhood, and see what you can find. Any jeweler can make them into a good-looking pair of links at moderate expense.

Barbecue Notes: Remove meat from refrigeration enough hours ahead of time so that it will be at room (or outdoor) temperature before cooking. Otherwise the outside of the meat will char but the center will not cook through. . . . Cook the meat in the heat from glowing charcoal—not the flames. . . Next time you prepare corn on the cob on a barbecue grill, cook it in the husks. . . . If you like spinach, try it as prepared in San Francisco—mixed with scrambled eggs. . . . Or cut bacon in small bits and mix with hash-browned potatoes.

Dress Tips: Even though oxford is heavier than other shirtings, many men prefer it in the summer because of its absorbency. . . . If the elastic tops in your anklet socks are tight, you'll be uncomfortable in hot weather. Try looser ones. . . . Do not throw damp shirts in the laundry. Let 'em dry out first.

Burglar Insurance: If you're going away for the summer on vacation—(1) Notify adjacent neighbors that you're leaving. (2) Ask one of them to pick up mail and circulars, in front of door, to keep them from serving as an invitation to burglars. (3) Stop newspaper and milk delivery, for same reason. (4) Leave shades up, rather than down, so strange lights inside can be seen.

Factuals: Many out-of-towners mistake Luchow's, New York's world-famous German restaurant, for a Chinese place—even with the umlaut! . . . Baseball team road trips started in 1860, when a Brooklyn club toured Albany, Troy and points west.

Tie Tip: Clip-on bow ties look smart only when they're worn properly. Too many men attach them carelessly—and the effect is far from neat. That is what happens when you clip the tie to one side of the collar (see drawing, 1) and then try to even it up on the other side. The right way (2) is to place the tie in position, and to slide each side of the collar into the clips, keeping the tie in place and centered.

Another Cigar: On July 28, 1952, we "Passed the Cigars" to danceman Arthur Murray for his announcement that he would give large-screen TV sets to hospitals where they were needed. Thus far, he's donated 322 sets to 103 institutions—and that calls for another pat on the back from this corner.

You'll be a cool and happy hostess if you delight your guests with this special menu!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Are you hostess this weekend? Well, don't banish yourself to the kitchen while everyone else has fun on the beach, terrace or just lazing around the living room. Here's an extra-special party menu, complete with recipes, all of which can be prepared ahead; the food is a real treat; looks as inviting as it tastes; is low in calories, non-heat producing and the recipes are original—prepared exclusively for this column by a famous test kitchen. Furthermore, the makings are inexpensive. Now, if that isn't a hot-weather party giver's dream of utopia, what could be?

Special Party Menu
Cucumber Chive Soup
Curried Chicken on Broccoli
Melba Toast Carrot Slivers
Pineapple Sherbert
Iced Coffee

Here's how to ready this ambrosia:

Cucumber chive soup. Prepare 2½ cups of liquified milk according to directions on package of non-fat dry milk. Place in top of double boiler. Over liquid, sprinkle 2 tbs. flour, ¾ tps. salt, ¼ tps. paprika and dash of pepper. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Add 1 bouillon cube, 2 tbs. fine-chopped chives and 1 shredded, medium-size unpeeled cucumber. Cook over boiling water stirring constantly, until bouillon cube dissolves and mixture thickens slightly. Serve chilled or hot. (Makes 4 small servings at 70 calories each.)

Curried Chicken. Place 1½ cups water in top of double boiler. Sprinkle over it ½ cup non-fat dry milk, 2 tbs. flour, ½ tps. salt, dash of pepper, 1 tps. curry powder. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Add 1 cup chopped, cooked fresh or canned chicken. Heat through. Serve hot over cooked broccoli. (4 servings at 200 calories each.)

Perfect Party Fare

Pineapple sherbert. Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Mix 1 cup pineapple juice, ¼ cup lemon juice and ¾ cup sugar. Gradually add 3 cups liquified non-fat dry milk; stir until blended. Pour into 2 refrigerator trays. Cover with waxed paper. Freeze to mushy. Turn into chilled bowl; beat with a rotary beater until smooth. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Return to refrigerator trays, cover with waxed paper, and freeze until firm. (8 portions with 104 calories each.)

Friends and family will bless you for such delicious fare that neither weights down their scales nor turns up their personal thermostats!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as toneless-ness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 1 (INS)—The same syndicate that financed "High Button Shoes" and reaped a fortune is becking a Broadway musical for Tony Martin.

"Casablanca," based on the wonderful movie Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman made for Warners some years ago, is the subject.

Arrangements have been made with Jack Warner for the musical comedy rights. This will in no way interfere if Warners plan a film remake of "Casablanca." In fact, it would probably enhance the value.

Evidence continues to pile up that religious pictures will be the big, big feature of the 1954 screen.

Director Victor Saville is on his way to Europe to start preparations on Thomas Costain's top seller, "The Silver Chalice," which traces the growth of the Christian church.

It will be filmed in one of the wide screen processes, in Technicolor, and in Rome and Jerusalem.

Saville plans to cast the spectacle with both American and European stars with a starting date of March, 1954.

The marital troubles of June Horne and Jackie Cooper have always seemed particularly sad to me because I have known both of them so many years.

I had always hoped they would reconcile, but that is out of the question now.

June is going to marry Dick Melvin, wealthy New York sportsman. He came out to Hollywood especially to ask her. He leaves tomorrow for Miami and in about a month June will join him and they will be married.

Melvin, who is in his early forties, has been married once before. He has homes in Washington, D. C., New York and Florida, and he has leased an apartment here.

Hollywood is still talking about the beautiful religious service that united Actress Ann Blyth and Dr. James McNulty.

Ann and Dr. Jim successfully eluded the reporters and are now hidden away in a bungalow near Lake Tahoe.

Ann held up beautifully all during the high nuptial mass and the reception, but when she went to change her dress she stepped on her wedding gown and tore it. She broke into tears and one of her bridesmaids said, "Don't cry—you'll never need it again."

Ann replied, "I know. But I wanted so much to save it for my daughter."

Chatter In Hollywood:

Lisa Ferraday, who was heartbroken at the death of Pam Bluemthal, has a new beau. He's Colonel Charles Barron, a biggie in Chicago, who sent her a flaming red convertible for her birthday.

Lisa, whose daughter was remembered in Bluemthal's will, is very busy these days with her career as well as her romance. She is booked for summer stock and will star in "Her Cardboard Lover" and "The Play's The Thing."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Sorry it's a divorce for Eleanor Parker and Bert Friedlob. Bert returns tomorrow from New York and plans temporarily to live with Joseph Schenck.

Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas are out of town. Is it Mexico this time? And could it be a divorce and a marriage?

It's first love for Joel McCrea's 18-year-old son, Jody, and Barbara Burck, daughter of Mayor Burck of Moab, Utah. They met when Jody took an acting job with his dad and Barbara acted as Yvonne De Carlo's stand-in.

Don't believe those rumors that Bing Crosby hasn't a radio or TV plan to his name. When the Liberte docks July 6, he'll be meet by Attorney John O. Melveny, who will hand the crooner two offers. One for $17,500-a-radio program, and another fabulous TV offer for eight shows.

Tommy Payne was back in St. John's Hospital following a hemorrhage after tonsilectomy. He was a very sick little boy and his father, John Payne, was frantic with worry. I believe that John will permit 9-year-old Katherine to visit her mother, Gloria De Haven, in Las Vegas, but I doubt if Tommy will be well enough.

The man in Lili St. Cyr's life is Actor Monte Hale.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS) — The two very wise men, known — and in places revered—through the world, stood on the roof of the Carnegie Endowment International Building and moodily stared across the street at the great glassy-eyed United Nations building.

Prof. Arnold Toynbee, world's foremost historian, said, "Hmm, looks like a beehive."

Prof. James Thomson Shotwell, who has been proposed for the Nobel peace prize by Cordell Hull, Canada's Lester B. Pearson and tremendous list of U. S. leaders, looked at a platform of workers swinging to and fro halfway up the face of the building, and remarked:

"For all of man's gains, he has never found an adequate way of washing windows."

We went inside to face the cameras for my TV show, and I kept wondering what I could ask these two men of massive scholarship. I kept thinking of the time John Kieran, called upon to introduce Eve Curie, paused for a moment after gaining his feet and then said, "Imagine a bum like me introducing a babe like her."

They didn't need much urging, for the subject, generally, was peace.

Prof. Shotwell, who put out the 150-volume "Economic and Social History of the (First) World War," said that he felt the basic argument at Panmunjom was that the Communists regard reluctant prisoners of war as traitors and potential enemies, and we think of them in human terms. He thought there will be peace in time; peace without a showdown—as in the War of 1812.

He spoke fondly of the Versailles Treaty (he was a delegate to the peace conference and a foremost Wilsonian) but thought it unfair to have expected an enduring peace.

Prof. Shotwell believes UN will work in time, and be a much better organization after the revision of its charter next year. "Remember how young it is," the old gentleman said. "It took the Parliament of England 600 years to attain its present sovereign power. It has taken the United States over a century to adjust its changing political life to the Constitution."

Permanent peace, he said, "rests on social justice."

Prof. Toynbee saw a parallel between the religious wars and the Communist vs. UN war in Korea. He, too, spoke well of the Versailles Treaty. The United States doomed it unintentionally by refusing to help Britain and France enforce it in the '20's and '30's. He recalled that there were eight great powers in 1914, and but two in 1945, and he said the atomic bomb "and worse" now provides the means of establishing a single great power.

But on the whole he was optimistic. He felt that, somehow, World War III would be averted. He again compared the whole East-West clash of armor and ideologies with the holy wars and the Crusades, concluding, "Protestants no longer wage war on Catholics, and vice versa. Perhaps Christianity and communism—which is a narrow kind of religion—can learn to live together in peace."

Toynbee faith in the religion of the West to stand up against the attacks by atheistic communism continues strong, he said, though he thought it might in time need help from the religious roots of India. People in time will tire of communism because of the very narrowness of its approach, and its stress on the materialistic.

Prof. Shotwell concluded the session by reading an excerpt from his poem "The Way," first published in the Saturday Review of Literature. His strong words filled the stilled room:

"The key to the plot (peace) was given on a sunlit mount by the sea

The only guidance the world has yet to make men safe and free.

Not to Caesar alone we turn to meet the threat of war,

His militant scepter cannot reach where the springs of action are;

But the mind that has ranged the universe must now itself control,

For the force in the mighty atom is less than the human soul;

Do ye unto others as ye would they do to you . . ."

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Vanderbilt Gets Divorce

RENO, Nev., July 1 30 (INS) — Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., was granted a default divorce in Reno yesterday from his fifth wife, Patricia Murphy Wallace Vanderbilt. He charged mental cruelty.

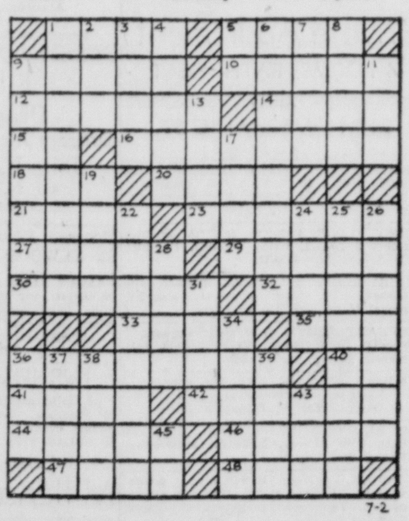
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

M R I X R B P U W L E U K B I U U C M W L E U A I U U C, K B X W W B P A U M B U R X R T B L I U J L H A G U L C U R K E X I U — G X W B L R.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: ONE HALF WILL NEVER BE BELIEVED, THE OTHER NEVER READ—POPE.

In Memoriam

In memory of Mrs. Annie J. Mallow, wife of J. W. Mallow, Flintstone, Maryland, who passed away one year ago today, July 2, 1952.

Your gentle face and patient smile,
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled the heart
That loved us well and true
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.
You're not forgotten, Mother Dear
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face—
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed and written by a daughter,
MRS. E. J. THOMPSON,
114 South Urbana, Tulsa, Oklahoma

In behalf of my lonely FATHER and BROTHERS & SISTERS.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah I. Davidson, who died July 2, 1945.

Dear mother you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more,
Still in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Her CHILDREN

Demand For Rail Issues Helps Pull Market Ahead

NEW YORK, July 1 (AP) — The Stock Market pulled ahead today under the stimulation of demand for railroads.

The carriers slid into the buying limelight in the second hour after showing rising tendencies right from the first. The rest of the market was a little reluctant to follow, but eventually just about everything joined the upward procession.

It was a moderate affair throughout with credit for the rise resting heavily on the carriers. The steels, motors and oils were in evidence on the plus side. Some chemicals and a few utilities were backward. The aircrafts at the close were mostly off small fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 80 cents at $107.80. The railroad component was up $1.30 while the industrials gained 70 cents and the utilities added 10 cents.

The list was slightly expanded with 1,032 individual issues on the tape of which 519 were up and 228 down. During the day 5 new highs and 33 new lows for the year were touched.

Volume at 910,000 shares was well ahead of yesterday's 820,000 shares.

Among stocks gaining were Santa Fe Railroad up 1⅞ at 94½ (after showing a maximum gain of 2¾), Illinois Central 2½ at 79, Rock Island 2½ at 75½, Atlantic Coast Line 1¾ at 102¼, Standard Oil (NJ) ½ at 71⅞, Amerada Petroleum 3½ at 165½, Loew's ⅛ at 12½, American Cynamid 1⅛ at 45⅝, General Electric 1 at 72, U.S. Steel ⅜ at 38⅞, Republic Steel ⅝ at 48¼ and Chrysler ½ at 72¼.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, July 1 (AP)—Wheat futures finally took the upward trail on the Board of Trade today for the first time in more than a week.

Ridgeley Council Organizes, Names Six Committees

Town Employes Are Reappointed

Ridgeley's newly-elected Mayor and Council organized at a meeting last night and decided to return to the mayor-council form of government. The town for some years has been using the commission form.

Under the council system, no councilman will be solely responsible for any town department. Members of the council instead will head various committees which will have much the same functions as individual commissioners formerly did.

Committees Named

Knieriem will head the ordinance committee, which also will include Frantz and Kelso. Kelso will be chairman of the finance committee, with Zimmerman and Preaskorn as committeemen.

Frantz will head the street and alley committee, with Knieriem and Zimmerman as members, and Preaskorn will be chairman of the sanitary committee, with Zimmerman and Kelso also serving.

Zimmerman will head the waterworks committee, with Kelso and Preaskorn as committeemen.

List Appointments

The Council also reappointed Police Chief H. Leslie Henry, Charles E. Shepherd, night watchman, and Arthur M. Sisk, town plumber. Fire Chief Leo Rice also got the council's official recognition.

Also appointed was a flood control committee. The committee, headed by Jesse H. Simmons, is composed of townspeople who will work with officials on all matters concerning the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control Project. Committeemen besides Simmons are John Boyer, Jesse Valentine, Obert Poling, Lawrence Maxson, Ward Coder and Theodore Dayton.

The Council's first regular meeting will be held next Tuesday.

Judge Affirms Board Decision In Club 88 Case

Rules Liquor Board Acted Within Law

An opinion affirming the action of the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners in refusing the application of Club 88, Inc., for a Class C beer, wine and liquor license was filed yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris in Circuit Court.

Filed with the three-page opinion was a court order affirming the action of the Board of License Commissioners in sustaining a remonstrance against granting the club-type license to Club 88.

Near Christie Road

Club 88, an organization of Cumberland Negroes, had sought an alcoholic beverage license for premises on Evitts Creek near Christie Road.

In his opinon Judge Harris notes that the Board of License Commissioners stated in its decision in the case that every resident living within three miles of the club signed the remonstrance.

Judge Harris called attention to the statute governing the issuance of liquor licenses which states that at least 10 citizens or voters or property holders living or owning property in the vicinity of the place for which license is applied must sign a petition certifying acquaintance with the petitioner or petitioners for more than one year preceding application.

None Near Location

"It has been testified to in this case that the application has not been signed by anyone who lives closer to the location of the club than two and a half to three miles," Judge Harris stated in his opinion. "It is contended by the board that the sponsors do not live or own property in the vicinity of the place for which license is applied, and, therefore, the application is not in proper form."

Judge Harris further cited that the application for the license was made on April 1 and the articles of incorporation was not approved by the State Tax Commission until April 17. The corporation, not having been created on April 1, could not legally make application. The judge stresses that this objection could be overcome by filing another application and add that the court "is not disposed to decide this matter on such a technicality."

The opinion continues by stating that the club has 54 members. The board decided this was not a bona fide club, that it "does not have any real and substantial objects and purposes, such as well defined educational, religious, charitable or lodge purposes." Judge Harris

Opinion Favors Defendants In Land Dispute

McMullen Highway Tracts Involved

A complicated ejectment suit involving title to two adjoining parcels of land along McMullen Highway a short distance west of Rawlings was decided yesterday in favor of the defendants by Associate Judge George Henderson in a nine-page opinion filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Plaintiff in the suit was Mrs. Ada B. Collins, who owns a 1,400 acre farm in the Rawlings area. The defendants included William R. Darr, who had possession of the lots known as Mint Spring Lot and Mill Run Lot; the State Roads Commission, which had purchased a small portion of the land in question for road improvements, and the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Keyser, W. Va., which holds a first mortgage of about $5,200 on Darr's property.

Cases Separated

In his opinion, Judge Henderson decided the cases involving each lot separately. Concerning the Mint Spring Lot his conclusion is based on his finding that a title by adverse possession was acquired by Darr, because he and his predecessor in title, Herbert A. Kile, had been in possession of the lot for more than 20 years.

As to the Mill Run Lot, his conclusion is based on the fact that neither Mrs. Collins nor Darr has title, but since Darr is in possession, his possession alone entitles him to hold it against Mrs. Collins.

Jacob Kile in 1928 deeded to his son, Herbert A. Kile, certain property. The son subsequently entered the Mint Spring Lot and in 1929 built a house which is still standing. Kile either occupied this house himself or rented it. Darr, the chief defendant, moved in about 1936. In 1939, he purchased the property from Kile. The Mint Spring Lot is a triangularly shaped lot, bounded by the state road to the south, by the Mill Run Lot on the west and by a fence line to the north. This fence has been in that location for many years, according to Judge Henderson, and was renewed by Darr once or twice.

Judge Henderson adds:

"The deed from Kile to Darr in 1939 described the Mint Spring Lot and therefore entitles Darr to "tack" possession of Kile from 1929 to 1939 to his own possession from 1939 to 1951 when this suit was begun. Their occupancy was open, continuous and "hostile" — that is both Kile and Darr claimed title against all the world. Although the plaintiff has a record title, Darr has a good title by adverse possession and he is entitled to keep the property."

Concerning the Mill Run Lot, Judge Henderson says:

"From the testimony I find there was in the Shaw Estate a title by adverse possession to this Mill Run Lot, which adjoined and was separated by a fence from, their property to the north. And had there been an intent to transfer this title, and had the deed from the trustees to the Collins family described it or mentioned it, then the title would have passed. The boundary lines of the Shaw estate were set out in the trustees' deed but they do not include the lot in question.

"And inasmuch as the deed to the Collins family from the trustees appointed to sell the Shaw estate, did not include the Mill Run Lot, the Collins cannot oust Darr. Because from the testimony presented here there was a valid title by adverse possession vested in the Shaw estate. And, so far as the evidence here is concerned, it is still there and not with Mrs. Collins.

"Whether Mrs. Collins is entitled to have the deed reformed, and, if so, whether Darr is entitled to reimbursement from her for his planing mill and storage building are questions that cannot be answered here. It might be well for counsel to discuss these possibilities with their clients."

Mrs. Collins was represented by Attorney William H. Geppert. For the defense James Alfred Avirett represented Darr and the Keyser bank. Frederick A. Puderbaugh was attorney for the State Roads Commission. Darr was returned from the Maryland House of Correction to testify in May. He is serving an 18 month term there.

354 Youngsters Receive City Bicycle Tags

A record crowd of 354 boys and girls descended upon Police Headquarters yesterday as department employes began issuing the new 1953-54 bicycle license tags and permits.

Mrs. Carolyn Y. Welsh, department stenographer in charge of issuing the permits, said the first-day throng was more than double the number of any previous group.

Biggest day last year was on the first day, when 150 children got permits.

A steady increase in bike ownership in the past year caused police to run out of tags twice after selling some 1,600. This year, a record order of 1,800 was placed, to avoid sudden shortages.

Some 25 applicants for permits were turned down yesterday because their bikes didn't have bells or other proper warning devices. Sirens and whistles are forbidden by law.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn issued a reminder to children that riding their bikes without new tags can mean fines of $2 to $10 and impoundment of bicycles for 30 to 60 days.

A bike owner must furnish the vehicle's serial number and make before being granted a license. The bike also must have a warning device, good brakes, and lights for night riding.

A parent or another authorized representative of the cyclist may obtain a permit for him, but it can't be done by telephone. Several inquiries were received by phone at headquarters yesterday.

Licenses will be issued each day this week, (except Saturday), from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The new, black-and-orange tags, similar to those used on Maryland automobiles this year, are sold for 25 cents each. Assisting Mrs. Welsh in issuing permits are Mrs. Vivian Turley, records clerk, and Officer Joseph H. Stitcher.

Miss Shires Visits School Official

Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel, visited the offices of the Allegany County Board of Education briefly yesterday.

While there she conferred with Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the Allegany County schools.

Local Chamber Will Elect 10 New Directors

The membership of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will nominate and elect 10 new directors for three-year terms in a ballot election being currently held.

The Chamber has mailed ballots to members who will nominate 10 directors from the membership list. The direct primary closes 5 p. m. Tuesday, July 14.

The 20 members receiving the highest number of votes will then be declared nominated and will be put on another ballot. From this list of 20, the membership will vote for 10, and the 10 nominees receiving the highest number of votes will be elected.

Deadline for mailing in the election ballots is Tuesday, July 28.

Chamber officials called attention to one of the by-laws which provides that no member shall be entitled to vote until his dues are paid.

The terms of 10 present directors expire this year and under the Chamber by-laws cannot succeed themselves. The following are not eligible for votes:

Max W. Bastian, Adolf Blunk, William H. Buchholtz, William A. Douglas, F. Lee Fresh, Thomas B. Finan, Lynn C. Lashley, Paul D. Pickens, Earl C. Robertson and William L. Wilson Jr.

Twenty directors' terms will continue this year and thus members should not vote for the following:

Harry J. Barton, Douglas R. Bowie, Edmund S. Burke, George A. Caswell, Charles S. Catherman Jr., Earl D. Chaney, W. Earle Cobey, F. W. Eiler, George Millenson, John H. Mosner.

Charles A. Piper, Henry W. Price, Carl C. Robbins, Simon Rosenbaum, F. Perry Smith, G. Louis Spoerl, J. H. Stitely, William C. Walsh, James L. Weber and Edgar D. Vandegrift.

Commemorative Stamps Displayed At Library

A collection of some 50 special commemorative envelopes with stamps cancelled on the first day of issue is now on display at the Cumberland Free Public Library.

The property of J. Michael Chisholm, an eighth-grader at SS. Peter and Paul's School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. (Sparky) Chisholm, 305 Beall Street, this collection recalls many events of special historical significance.

One reminder of the real importance of the Independence Day holiday which is almost here is a commemorative stamp and envelope recalling the 175th anniversary of the arrival in America of Marquis de Lafayette.

Of local interest is one envelope on which the stamp was cancelled May 19, 1938. Issued during National Air Mail Week, which ran from May 15-21, 1938, the envelope bears the slogan "Queen City of the Alleghenies, Cumberland, Md." and pictures the old log cabin which was George Washington's headquarters in 1755.

Not all of the stamps are from the United States. Canada and England are represented in the collection as is India which issued a stamp on the occasion of Mahatma Gandhi's birthday.

Many of the stamps were cancelled in the community identified especially with the event commemorated. For instance, the stamp marking the 85th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was cancelled in Gettysburg, Pa., November 19, 1948.

Commemorating the final reunion of the United Confederate Veterans is a stamp cancelled May 30, 1951, in Norfolk, Va. Another cancelled in Richmond, Va., was on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the death of Edgar Allan Poe, who was born and lived a part of his life in Richmond.

The most recent stamp in the collection was cancelled January 20, 1953, in Washington on the occasion of the inauguration of Dwight D. Eisenhower as 34th President of the United States.

Jaycees Ask Volunteers For Sport Projects

Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce committee chairmen asked for Jaycee volunteers to work with the annual soap box derby and golf tournament projects at a meeting of the organization at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club last night.

E. W. Lowery, chairman of the soap box derby event to be held Saturday, July 11 on Pennsylvania Avenue, said volunteers will put up a snow fence along the route of the race to keep spectators from blocking the track.

He said the fence will be set up at 10 a. m. and other volunteers are needed at 12:30 p. m. to help get the race underway.

Raymond C. Dorn, president, asked for volunteers to assist with the annual golf tournament Friday, July 10 at the Cumberland Country Club. The event will begin at 9 a. m.

Miles S. Amick, head of the "Miss Western Maryland" beauty pageant, introduced the winner and runner-up.

Introduced and presented at the meeting were Miss Carolyn Deck, this city, "Miss Western Maryland of 1954;" Miss Elma Gail Jones, Midland, runner-up; and Miss Doris Davis, Dean Hancox, accompanists, and Edward McGraw, singer at the contest.

Dorn presented Miss Deck with a silver vase as a Jaycee presentation to the pageant winner.

Leonard Schwab, one of the four local delegates to the national Jaycee convention at Minneapolis, reported on events at the celebration. Approximately 8,000 Jaycees attended, he said.

Telephone Cable 'Shot Up' Near Clear Spring

State Police have been asked to look for a vandal who fired three rifle bullets which damaged a telephone toll cable, disrupted phone service and played hob with teletype and radio networks in the area Tuesday night.

Richard E. Harman, manager of the central office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here, said the high-powered rifle slugs were fired into the company's major toll cable a mile and a half west of Clear Spring in Washington County at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Several cables were put out of commission, radio programs were affected, and teletype and teletypesetter service at the Times and Alleganian Company was out for three hours. Radio Station WCUM also lost teletype service for awhile.

All nine Washington long distance circuits were knocked out and calls were rerouted through Pittsburgh. Telephone crews worked until 4:15 a. m. yesterday to splice over the damaged section of cable.

Columbia Broadcasting System programs were disrupted, but were rerouted through Harrisburg to Bedford, Pa., and then to WCUM, local CBS outlet.

Continued warm readings were felt more yesterday because of a high humidity percentage which made atmosphere sticky and uncomfortable. High temperature yesterday was 92 degrees, low was 68 and at 9:30 p.m., mercury stood at 83 degrees. Other companies in the area were alerted by Assistant Cumberland Fire Chief Alvey B. Poole, CD liaison officer. They stood by at their engine houses until the all-clear was sounded.
